HOUSE FIRM ON 40-HOUR LAW CHANGE

Manifests Intention To Go Ahead Despite Roosevelt Opposition To Move.

PROFIT TAX HINTED

Seen as Rider on Measure Altering Maximum Hours In War Industry.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — President Roosevelt's blunt opposition to any immediate changes in the 40-hour-week law found important support in the senate today, but the house still seemed bent on taking matters into its own hands.

Even in some senate quarters there were those who believed that the war production emergency called for modification of the overtime pay provisions of the statute.

The house manifested every intention of pushing ahead with consideration of legislation which would suspend all maximum-hour laws in war industries, and some staunch administration backers privately were dubious about the chances of defeating such a measure if it also contained drastic provisions for recapture of all corporate war profits over six per cent.

A potent factor in the entire situation was the unabated avalanche of mail which continued to pour into congressional offices from back home, demanding that all legislative precautions be taken to prevent any further interruption or delay in the arms output. Mindful of the fact that this is an election year, more than one legislator apparently was apprehensive lest inaction now be misconstrued by the voters later.

In one preliminary study of diverse problems, a senate appropriations subcommittee called high government officials into a closed session today for testimony on whether strikes should be outlawed and the 40-hour work week modified.

The president told a press conference late yesterday that there had been "an amazing state of public misinformation" on the 40-hour week question. He spoke out against any change in the law at the present time because, he said, things were going along pretty well.

Mr. Roosevelt conceded, in response to a question, that some legislation on the 40-hour-week

DEATH TO AXIS!

Uruguay Students Take Up Cry In Demonstration.

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay —(AP)—Crying "Death to the Axis countries" and singing the Uruguayan national anthem, crowds of students demonstrated again this morning against the sinking of the Uruguayan steamer Montevideo, torpedoes off the coast of Haiti.

Reinforced police guards were thrown around the German legation office and the home of the German minister today in the wake of similar student riots last night.

(Youths also rioted in Santiago, Chile, in protest against the sinking of the Chilean freighter Tolten last Friday outside New York harbor. In flying raids they smashed windows of shops belonging to Axis subjects and suspected sympathizers. The youths called for an immediate diplomatic break with the Axis.

MOVIES BANNED

MELBOURNE—(INS)—The Australian federal government today banned motion picture performances and sports meetings "during the present emergency."

5,022 Registrants In County Get Order Numbers for Army Service

Draft Lottery All-Night Task

Number 441 First to Apply to County Registration Lists; Numbers of All Printed In Today's N-J.

Their order of call to physical examinations and possible military service established by last night's draft lottery, the 5,022 men in Richland county between 20 and 21 and 35 to 44 today were part of the nation's new manpower reservoir of 9,000,000 men.

The lottery, a 13-hour, all-night marathon during which 7,000 order numbers were drawn, was the third since the national defense program started but the first since America entered the war following Japan's sneak attack on Pearl Harbor.

The drawing started when Secretary of War Stimson, shortly after 6 p. m. yesterday, drew the first number from the goldfish bowl that has been used for every draft. The number was 3,485. Secretary of the Navy Knox drew the second number, 2,850. The last number, 4,420, was drawn at 7:04 o'clock this morning.

Of the first 10 numbers drawn, only one applied to Richland county, since the others were above the figure of 1,828, the largest list of registrants among the three draft boards of the county. This was 441, the fourth number drawn in the national lottery. Since the three above it did not apply to the county, 441 becomes Order Number 1 for the three county boards.

Holders of the serial number 441, placing them first on the list for call to examination and possible army service from Richland county, were:

Board 1—Clarence Chester Gass, sr., 338 West Third street; Board 2—Harold LeRoy Selby, R. D. 40, Route 30 east; Board 3—William Edward Freund, R. D. 3.

On Pages 6 and 8 in today's News-Journal are listed all the order numbers affecting the 5,022 Richland county registrants. Staff members worked through the night, as the lottery proceeded, weeding out the order numbers for all serial numbers above 1,828. Published along with the list are detailed instructions for a registrant in any of the three local boards to learn his own order number.

This will correspond, with a

MANSFIELD HIGH PUPIL KILLED

Shot By Companions While 4 Skip Classes to Fish and Hunt Near Lucas.

Four Mansfield Senior high school boys "played hookey" from classes this morning to go on a fishing and target-shooting party but their sport was cutshort when a bullet from a .22-caliber gun snuffed out the life of one of them.

Robert Borden, 16, of 30 South Adams street a sophomore, was killed shortly after 9:30 a. m. when he stepped into the line of fire of a companion about to shoot at a chicken-hawk in a field near Lucas. He was a son of Mrs. Doris Borden.

Dr. L. B. McCullough, Richland county coroner, said that death was almost instantaneous. The bullet struck the youth at the base of the neck. The coroner signed a verdict of accidental death.

The dead boy's three companions, John Hergatt, 16, of 76 Waring avenue; Fred Urschel, 16, of 270 West First street, and Norman Hildebrand, 17, of 398 South Diamond street, sobbed out their stories to Deputy Sheriff Glenn P. Freeman.

They said it was a bullet from Hergatt's gun which struck Borden. Hergatt told Freeman that he had laid his rifle across the trunk at the rear of their auto-

American Public Promised All of News About War

WASHINGTON —(INS)— The American public today was promised all the news of the war, both good and bad, except that which might aid the Axis.

The pledge was made by the committee on war information of the office of facts and figures, in a comprehensive statement of policy on war news.

The committee decided to allow restricted publication of casualty lists—a procedure which has been forbidden since shortly after the start of the war. Under the decision, the press and radio will be allowed to publish casualty lists affecting the immediate areas which they serve, but nationwide summaries will still be barred.

It was also decided that in addition to releasing news the army and navy will present from time to time joint bulletins which will "furnish an authoritative gen-

USE TWO PLANES

Members of MacArthur Party Fly In American Craft.

MELBOURNE —(INS)— United States military authorities revealed today that two American planes brought Gen. Douglas MacArthur and members of his party from the Philippines to Australia.

The new chief of the United Nations southwestern Pacific forces was accompanied by his wife, child and members of his staff.

Three 'No. 1's' In Newest Draft

Here are the county's three holders of serial number 441 in the Feb. 16 draft—which means they're now holders of Order Number 1 in Richland county. Upper left is William Edward Freund, 21, who lives on a farm between Mansfield and Shelby, and is on the rolls of Board 3. Upper right is Harold LeRoy Selby, 37, painting contractor of Park avenue east road, with his twin sons, Jack (left) and Dick, 15. In lower photograph is Board 1's holder of the serial number 441—Clarence Chester Gass, sr., 41, of 338 West Third street, who served 37 months with the Rainbow division in the first World war.

War Veteran, Painter and Farm Youth Are No. 1'ers

Number 441 First to Apply to Richland County's Registration Lists at Lottery Drawing.

A veteran of 37 months of service with the Rainbow division in the first World war—

The 37-year-old father of twin 15-year-old boys—and

A youth, 21, one of 10 children of a farm family.

These are the three Richland county holders of serial number 441, which is Order Number 1 for the county in the new draft for 20-21 and 35-44 registrants.

Number 441 from Board 1 is Clarence Chester Gass, sr., of 338 West Third street. His son, Clarence, jr., 19, is in the navy, and a daughter, Gladys, is a senior at Senior high school. Gass enlisted when he was 17 and served with the 150th field artillery of the Rainbow division, participating in the Marne and Argonne battles of the first World war.

Several friends who knew his serial number telephoned Mrs. Gass, and she telephoned the news to her husband at the Pastime cigar store, where he was playing a game of pool. Born in Chattanooga he has been in Mansfield 14 years and is employed as an enameler at Humphryes.

Board 2's number 1, by virtue of his serial number 441, is Har-

President Roosevelt would like to see a few more parades and a few more bands playing, he told his press conference yesterday. It is time to wave the flag, he added, and get a lot of enthusiasm into our work.

SPEED PLANES

U. S. Factories Turning Out 3,000 Monthly, Says Nelson.

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — Production Chief Donald M. Nelson's airplane production figures today indicated that American factories are turning out 3,000 planes a month.

Plane production figures have not been announced since last October when 1,917 were being turned out each month.

If the increase of 50 per cent each three months can be maintained during the remaining months of 1942, President Roosevelt's goal of 60,000 planes this year will be attained and possibly topped.

In line with Nelson's renewed plea for urgency in war production, President Roosevelt will ask congress today for $17,579,311,253 in a supplemental war department appropriation for army airplanes. This request will bring more than $44,000,000,000 (B) the total funds made available for purchasing planes for both army and navy.

TOLL HITS 153

Six States Plan Rebuilding In Path of Tornadoes.

(By International News Service)

With the death toll reaching 153 and property damage mounting into the millions, reconstruction plans were mapped todayin stricken communities of six states of the midwest and south where homes, schools and business buildings were wrecked in Monday's series of tornadoes. The number of persons injured exceeded 1,000.

Swift measures were taken also to forestall possible epidemics, health authorities administering anti-typhoid shots and taking other precautions. The Red Cross sent medical aid and nurses to all areas where the tornadoes left dead and injured in their wake.

Mississippi suffered most in casualties if not in property damage. There 79 were listed as dead and upwards of 700 as injured. Tennessee's dead were 27 and the injured 100.

DEATH TAKES DR. FISHER, 41

Medical Director of Richland Tuberculosis Sanatorium Dies at Home.

Dr. Lincoln Fisher, medical director of the Richland county Tuberculosis Sanatorium, died of a heart ailment at 6 a. m. today at his home, 99 Carpenter road, following an illness of six weeks. He was 41.

He had been medical director of the sanatorium since its establishment three years ago. He came to Mansfield in January, 1936, after holding important medical posts in other cities.

Born at Ann Arbor, Mich., Dr. Fisher received his arts degree and his degree in medicine from Yale university. One of his early positions was as a member of the staff of Dr. Edward Archibald, noted surgeon of the Royal Victoria hospital in Montreal.

He came to Mansfield from Louisville, where he had served as thoracic surgeon to the Waverly Hills Sanatorium and as instruc-

3 SUBMARINES SINK U. S. SHIP

Pocket Vessel Off Atlantic Coast And Launch Two Torpedoes.

NORFOLK, Va. - (AP)— Three enemy submarines, one large and two small ones, pocketed a medium size American merchant ship off the Atlantic coast early Sunday and sent her to the bottom with two torpedoes placed accurately in the engine room.

Six members of the crew lost their lives in the attack, the Fifth Naval District said in announcing the sinking today. Thirty-three survivors landed at Morehead City, N. C., after being adrift on life rafts from three to nine hours.

The loss of life resulted from the second torpedo which struck just below one of the life boats as it was lowered into the water.

BULLETIN

LIMA — (AP) — Four army planes were reported to have crashed in flames in a field five miles east of Lima shortly before noon today. First reports said there were no survivors. A newspaper reporter at the scene telephoned that no other details were available immediately. The state highway patrol said it had received word of a crash and sent officers to investigate.

Police Blush as Boy, 4, Leads Them Back 'Home' After Hunt

Mansfield police looked around for more than three hours yesterday afternoon trying to find the home of a "lost" boy and they ended up wondering if they didn't need a little help themselves.

Dexter Dougles, 4, is visiting in Mansfield and yesterday in the course of a stroll, he dropped in at the police department "just to look around."

Police began asking him questions about where he came from, who his folks were, where he lived and the many other queries with which they ply children who are lost.

Meantime, Dexter played with the typewriters and looked about the police radio room, having the time of his life.

When asked where he lived, Dexter would reply, "Oh, just around the corner."

Every once in a while, Dexter would say, "Well, I guess I'll be getting on" but the police would persuade him to stay around a little longer, while they tried to contact his parents.

Finally the police played their last trump card—they took Dexter for a ride in a police cruiser hoping that he would see his home. They drove all over the city and Dexter enoyed himself tremendously but failed to find his home.

As the officers returned to headquarters, a little dejected, they drove along West Second street near the Municipal building. As they passed the home of B. F. Lindsey, 39 West Second street.

"There's my home," cried Dexter and the police just set back stunned. Three hours of searching were spent to find Dexter's home while all the time he lived next door to police headquarters.

12 War Vessels Hit In Attack Off New Guinea

MacArthur Girds for Drive In Australia Zone as Experts Warn Enemy Still Has Odds; Brett, U. S. Officer, Made Air Force Commander.

BULLETIN

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—The navy department today revealed that 23 Japanese ships, including 12 war vessels, have been sunk or damaged and three planes brought down in an attack by U. S. island-based forces on New Guinea.

The navy listed the following results: sinking of two enemy heavy cruisers; heavy damage to and the probable sinking of one light cruiser; damage to a fourth cruiser; the probable sinking of one destroyer; the possible sinking of two destroyers and damage to one large destroyer. Five transports or cargo ships were either sunk or gutted by fire and run aground.

(By Associated Press)

With Gen. Douglas MacArthur in supreme command, the developing battle of Australia presented a grimmer aspect for Japan's invasion armies today as "most substantial" American forces were officially reported helping to man the vast commonwealth's defenses.

Allied military experts cautioned against too great optimism, pointing out that the odds still were heavily in favor of the enemy, but they declared that the Japanese would be in for the fiercest campaign of the war if they attempted to storm Australia as they did Singapore and the Dutch East Indies.

"The arrival of Gen. MacArthur in Australia is the healthiest and most welcome sign we have had," said Maj. Gen. Henry Gordon Bennett, Australian commander in the Malayan jungle campaign.

"MacArthur's stand in the Philippines stamped him as a man with the fighting spirit which will soon be needed. . . ."

Coinciding with Gen. MacArthur's dramatic shift from the foxholes of tiny Batan peninsula to Australia, Prime Minister John Curtin announced that another topnotch American officer, Lieut. Gen. George H. Brett, 56, would command the Allied air forces in the Australia-New Zealand theater.

Brett also will hold the post of deputy supreme commander of United Nations forces under MacArthur.

Allied bombers continued to smash at the enemy's potential jumping-off bases, raiding an airdrome at Japanese-Koepang, capi-

RETREAT: British Fall Back 30 Miles on Burma Left Wing

(By Associated Press)

NEW DELHI, India—The British left wing in Burma has drawn back about 30 miles, it was disclosed today in a communique which announced that "our forward troops are in action with a strong enemy force south of Kanyutkwin."

Kanyutkwin is about 30 miles north of Nyaunglebin, previously announced position of the British, and about 40 miles south of Toungoo. Toungoo is about 220 miles south of Mandalay, on the main Rangoon-Mandalay railway, and appears to be the objective of the Japanese advance.

(A military commentator in London said Japanese troops in Burma had received "strong reinforcements" in planes and personnel which the Japanese are now able to spare from Java. A Japanese claim to "complete air superiority" in Burma was termed exaggerated, however.)

On the British right wing of the Burma front defending Prome, the Japanese appeared to be making no advance.

British army headquarters announced today that the main strength of the Japanese forces seeking to drive into upper Burma along the Rangoon-Prome road still is south of Taikkyi, 40 miles north of Rangoon and 115 miles below Prome itself.

Farther east, along the road running from Rangoon to Toungoo, British imperial advance units were reported in action with strong enemy forces south of Kanyutkwin, a highway point 30 miles above Nyaunglebin and 40 miles below Toungoo.

The communique also reported that a large force of troops, most of them Indian Gurkhas, who were cut off in the battle at Takkyan, had rejoined the main imperial troops at Prome.

ATTACK: Russians Storming Into Suburbs of Vital Kharkov

(By Associated Press)

Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's Ukraine armies were reported storming today into the suburbs of Kharkov, the Soviet "Pittsburgh," and Stockholm advices declared that Russian troops on the central front had surrounded 200,000 Germans in a great pocket west of Moscow.

A Reuters (British news agency) dispatch from Stockholm quoted Moscow reports that Soviet parachute troops had been dropped in the Smolensk area, 230 miles west of Moscow, and destroyed Nazi fortifications during a snowstorm.

Front-line dispatches said the Russians had captured five more communities in a gigantic encirclement movement to cut off the "escape corridor" of German garrison at Rzhev and Vyazma. Latest reports said the gap had been narrowed to a bare 20 miles.

Tass, the Soviet news agency, said the Germans fled after a vain counterattack in that sector, leaving 1,200 killed and wounded on the battlefield.

More than 4,750 Nazis were declared to have been slain in the last few days as the Russian counteroffensive surged forward along the entire front.

A Morocco radio broadcast quoting Moscow reports said heavy fighting raged in the suburbs of Kharkov, one of the key bases in Adolf Hitler's winter defense line.

Other Soviet gains were reported in the Orel-Kursk area, midway between Moscow and Kharkov, with the Russians recapturing tal of Dutch Timor, in the East Indies.

"Ten enemy fighters unsuccessfully attempted to intercept the raiders," an Australian communique said, adding that the attackers scored hits despite poor visibility.

Timor lies across the Timor sea from the oft-bombed northern Australian port of Darwin.

"We are the base from which to strike at the enemy," Curtin said, and it was evident that the short-term prospect of a Japanese invasion attempt did not obscure the offensive spirit

Army Minister Francis M Forde, welcoming General MacArthur after his flight from the Bataan peninsula defenses of his Philippine army, said Australian soldiers "will be proud to work and fight" under him.

Military experts in Washington cautioned that Japan still had the edge for the battle for Australia They said the Allies were inferior numerically and obliged to defend a vast and sparsely settled country with a long coast and extended supply lines.

However, adaptation of the country to defense in depth, numerous air bases, the possibility of reinforcements and absence of fifth column activity were counted in MacArthur's favor.

Even the German newspaper Koelnische Zeitung raised a question as to whether Japan had not spread her forces too thin.

"Whether Japan can keep economically what she got by fighting," the paper said, "depends upon whether she is able to construct a sufficient merchant fleet in time to maintain communications between the motherland and the Pacific territories."

Japan's imperial headquarters reported that 25 Allied planes were shot down or destroyed on airdromes in air raids last Friday and Saturday on Horn island, off northernmost Queensland, and Port Moresby, New Guinea, 300 miles to the northeast.

Here Are Highlights Of MacArthur Career

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Here are the high spots in the life of General Douglas MacArthur, the United Nations' supreme commander in the southwest Pacific:

Born, Little Rock, Ark., 1880; graduated from West Point, 1903; commissioned first lieutenant, 1904; aide to President Theodore Roosevelt, 1906-08; served on Vera Cruz (Mexico) expedition, 1914.

Commissioned major, 1917 colonel, chief of staff, Rainbow division, brigadier general, 1918

Gassed in the Salient Du Feye, 1918, and wounded at Exermont, 1918

S. A., 1941; commissioned lieutenant general, 1941, and named commander-in-chief of the U. S. Army forces in the Far East, 1941.

March 17, 1942, arrived in Australia to assume the supreme command of the southwest Pacific.

Japan Calls It MacArthur 'Flight'

(Editor's Note President Roosevelt warned yesterday that Axis short wave propagandists would try to make capital of Gen Douglas MacArthur's transfer to Australia by picturing it as abandonment of the Philippines. Following is the first Japanese reaction to the transfer to be broadcast.)

TOKYO (From Japanese broadcasts)—(AP)—Domei circulated this dispatch today:

"Observers commenting upon (General) MacArthur's abandoning his own forces and fleeing to Australia declared his flight is fatally similar to flights of (Australian Major General) Gordon Bennett and (British General Sir) Archibald Wavell from Singapore and the Netherlands East Indies, which immediately after fell into Japanese hands.

"They said this treacherous abandoning of a sinking ship seems to characterize Allied commanders who flee from post to post, leaving their soldiers to suffer the consequences.'

"Pointing out the importance of a commander's presence to inspire fighting spirit, the quarters expressed the opinion that 'with such cowardice shown repeatedly by Allied generals it is no wonder that Allied forces are lacking in the will to fight.'" discrepancy of no more than one or two numbers, from the official order number he will receive in another week or so from his own board.

All-Night Draft Lottery Sets Up Schedule For Calls For Service In Army.

The lottery was ushered in with the disclosure that the national selective service system will be used to conscript workers for war industries. Brig. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, national draft director, gave the nation's able-bodied men a hint of what might be in store for them—even if they cannot be used for military service.

"This is everyone's war," Hershey declared in a brief speech opening the lottery. "Each of us has a stage in it, each of us must do an essential job to win it, Nothing must hinder the systematic and orderly procurement and training of our armed forces"

Then Hershey made the startling statement:

"Nothing, not even the procurement of our armed forces, must interfere with the time table of production of the means by which the enemy will be defeated."

This meant that selective service officials would place production of planes and guns and tanks ahead of recruiting men for the armed forces. If necessary, it was learned, men will be drafted for such work. "Men are selected to fly airplanes," Hershey said, "they may be selected to build airplanes."

"Men should be selected to man ships," he continued, "they should be selected to build ships."

By the lottery, he pointed out, millions of men were added to "that pool of men who stand ready for selection for the necessary tasks whatever they may be—selection to insure that democracy, our democracy, does not vanish from the earth."

At Columbus, Col. C. W. Goble, state selective service director, said Ohio's 330 draft boards would begin mailing questionnaires within the next 10 days to the 20-45-year age group who registered for the draft Feb. 16.

Goble said national draft headquarters will mail printed master lists of the order numbers drawn last night to each board within the next week

As soon as local boards received these lists, they will number cards of new registrants Questionnaires will be mailed to registrants in the sequence of order numbers as soon as the local numbering is finished.

Classification will get under way when the first questionnaires are returned to the boards. Goble said he did not think any of the new registrants would be called for service before May or June

There were a couple of hitches in the national drawing, and in The News-Journal's unofficial list of order numbers, too. In Washington there were supposed to have been 7,000 capsules in the bowl. But when the last one was drawn only 6 998 had been accounted for. Earlier there had been a duplication of No. 2,885.

Hershey and his aides conferred and discovered that Nos. 2,069 and 6,324 were missing. They also decided that one of the 2,885s should have been 2,385.

To straighten out these errors, they cancelled the first 2,885 which was drawn as the 742nd number and let the second one stand Then they placed the three numbers—2,069, 6,342 and 2,385—in the bowl and drew them out in this order:

6 999th—6,342.
7 000th—2 069
7,001st—2,385

Actually, the list will be revised and all numbers after the 741st, will be advanced one number and the corrected list will end with 7,000 instead of 7,001.

Several duplications, which could not be immediately ascertained, raised The News-Journal's total to several figures above the 1,828 maximum in the county. Hence the order number as obtained by a registrant from today's edition may vary one or two from his official order number, but it will be so close that it will give him an almost exact indication of the order in which he will be called

Start of Third Lottery

Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson is pictured as he drew capsule number 3485 to begin the nation's third draft lottery that will determine the marching order for another 9,000,000 potential fighting men between the ages of 20 and 44. Assisting the war secretary is Col. John Langston, chairman of the planning council of the selective service system.

THEY JOINED UP TO SEE THE SEA

But Navy Trainees Find They March Just Like Army.

GREAT LAKES, Ill — (INS) — Trainees at the Great Lakes Naval Training station were not sure today whether they were in the navy of the army as they fretted over the sore muscles they incurred in an arduous 14-mile cross-country hike through the mud, up and down ravines and knee deep in creeks

If they thought when they joined the navy life was to be all "Sailing, Sailing Over the Bounding Main," they were disillusioned for this was the first rigorous march in the navy's new "toughening-up" process to prepare the men for landing operations and other maneuvers in co-operation with land forces

mobile to sight a chicken-hawk in a nearby field when suddenly Borden stepped in front of him

Freeman said that Borden had evidently left the car from the opposite side and had accidentally stepped in front of the rifle just as Hergatt shot. He fell to the ground.

According to the deputy, the boys placed Borden in the car and hurried to get a doctor. Becoming alarmed at his condition, however, they stopped at the farm of Ray Culler, east of Lucas, to call a doctor. There they discovered that Robert was already dead.

Freeman said the youths told him that they and Borden had decided to "skip" school and had taken their fishing tackle along to Mifflin dam. Borden and Hergatt brought their .22 caliber rifles for some target shooting.

Freeman stated that the boys told him they cast their lines for a while at Mifflin and then tiring of the place, decided to move to another fishing site. Hergatt spied the chicken-hawk in a field and got out of the car to take a shot at it. It was then that Borden stepped in front of him.

Borden, Urschel and Hildebrand were tall taking vocational courses while Hergatt is enrolled as a general course pupil. Urschel was Borden's classmate and Hergatt and Hildebrand were juniors.

Surviving the dead youth are his mother, a brother, J. Richard Borden, and his grandmother, Mrs Mary Nettie, all of Mansfield on June 6, 1926.

The body was taken to the Wappner funeral home, pending funeral arrangements.

CHAPTER XXX

When finally Judith was settled in an attractive hotel room it was too late to telephone Emily. Turning off the light, she sat in a chair by the window and looked at the electric fairyland that is Manhattan at night. And she felt as lonely as she had the first night she had come to New York determined to be the best fashion artist in the business and had cried herself to sleep in a small, frigid room.

Only the loneliness remained, for the determination to be the best fashion artist seemed not worth the necessary effort now. So ambition had gone the way of many of her former ideas.

She had left Clinton and now Clinton had banished her . . . because Stephen was there and Clinton was too small for them who would be bound to see each other. You could not be merely courteous and polite to a boy who had offered you his heart. Clinton had banished her because Stephen Larrabee loved her. And how unfair Judith was to fear he would stop loving her.

Where was the Judith to whom New York had once been a city to be conquered? Sitting in a hotel room a few years later, counting the hours until she saw Max Worthington who had hurt her into tolerance and driven away her ambition and sent her back to the people who had always loved her and to one to whom she was "the best."

Beyond tomorrow she knew nothing. If Max had plans, he had not spoken of them, and you never questioned him. That awful sense of drifting, conquered after she had begun to feel that her roots were in Clinton, came back to her again. And after tomorrow? What indeed after tomorrow? Max was a man who gave a girl a past, but not a future.

She slept fitfully and awoke with a start. The room was flooded with sunlight. "I'm going to see Max," she thought, and the old excitement flamed.

After breakfast she took a walk. Then she called up Emily.

"This is Judith, Emily. I came up last night, but it was too late to come out there. How are your two Tims?"

"Fine. Both of them."

"I'm not sailing, Emily. Max is here."

"Max! Oh!" She paused. "I thought—I'd hoped you were over that. Never mind. I shouldn't have said it. I liked him very much. But when am I going to see you? I want you to come out."

"I'll call you tonight."

"Make it tomorrow morning. Tim and I will be in New York tonight at the theater. Ames was out to see us recently. He looks splendid. I don't think he minds about Phyllis at all. Well, call me in the morning, darling. I'm dying to see you."

Walking along the sultry streets, she felt only loneliness again and soon returned to the hotel room. She thought, "Max was only a voice over the telephone telling me to meet him. Not asking me. Telling me. He hasn't changed. He's too seasoned for change.

Max . . . Think of Max and memorable hours with him. Do not think of your friends and your sister arriving in New York this afternoon and Stephen driving alone to Lake George. Alone? Hardly. Almost as vivid as her memories of Max was the visualization of Mary Anderson's blond head close to Stephen's dark one in the car. But think of Max, this is his day. And isn't this the day you've longed for?

It seemed to her that time had ceased. She went down to the dining room for luncheon and when she returned to her room, it was only 2:30. She could dress leisurely. But she found that she was dressing quickly with hands that fumbled from weakness. When at last she looked at herself in the full-length mirror, she saw a rather tall girl in a soft-toned print frock, a broad-brimmed red straw hat and black patent leather pumps.

There was still time, too much time for faces to spring at her, particularly the fact of Fay . . . She could see a room with a piano and Max's photograph on the piano and hear what Fay was saying again. She thought, "I can't help these things. I can't solve them. I've always done what I thought was right at the time and I've never consciously hurt anyone. Or am I excusing myself? I don't know. I only know that in an hour I shall see Max again."

She came out of her hotel and got into a taxi.

Later she thought, "I'm weary of fighting myself. The contentment I felt in Clinton, wasn't it happiness also? Am I learning to distinguish excitement from happiness? I wasn't happy here. Sometimes I was excited and sometimes I was smug. I was always waiting for something wonderful to happen to me. The average, normal things weren't good enough for me. Yet they gave me contentment in Clinton. My family's love gave me contentment. I don't want to come back here again. I have a past, but no future. Max must give me a future today."

The taxi stopped and she stepped from the daylight glare to a cool, dim, luxuriously-furnished lobby where people, young and old, smartly dressed, came and went.

That Max had not arrived she was glad. She would have a few minutes in which to prepare herself. She selected a high-backed blue chair and tried to look comfortable and unconcerned.

She saw Max coming through the revolving doors. Her pulse quickened because he was unchanged. When he saw her, smiled and hurried to her, it was as though her pulse died . . . No, Max had not changed. His eyes were no less blue and knowing, his features had lost none of their strength.

He took her hands and held them tightly and looked into her face.

"Judith, you look very lovely." His voice was less precise, less demanding.

"Thank you, Max. You are looking very well indeed."

"I'm late—as usual."

"It doesn't matter."

"You're very sweet. But let's not talk here."

The lounge was dim and cool, and luxurious, too, with many mirrors. Few people were there. Judith and Max sat side by side, their shoulders touching.

A serious Max turned to her and his voice was very gentle. "You're not sailing. I appreciate that. I can well imagine it took a good bit to get out of it."

"Telephone calls chiefly." That wasn't exactly true. She had seen Stephen!

"You are not different except in the ways that made me love you."

"Love?"

He frowned. "I deserve your scorn. I couldn't write you. I had to see you. I talk much better than I write and I didn't want to be misunderstood by trying to put my thoughts on paper. It's a long story."

"I know that story, Max."

"But what you don't know is that I was a man in love with two women . . . I am not turning back to you, Judith, because I have never really turned away from you. You were what I once told you you were—a meteor across my sky. Did we both know in the beginning that it would mean so much to us? Frankly, I didn't . . . But in no time you and Fay were equals in my affections. I know it's difficult to understand that and believe it . . . I can't help whether you believe it or not. It's true. Your letter of resignation hurt me more than anything has ever hurt me. I can be hurt, Judith. This exterior is not as thick as I would have most people believe."

"Then why did you pretend it was?" She had never questioned him before.

"Because I didn't want to marry anybody." There were fine wrinkles around his eyes when he narrowed them. "I never felt it would be fair to ask a woman to share my roving life. I am not cut out for anything else, and even if I were, it's too late for me to try anything else. I'm too old." He smiled.

"Yes, Judith, I'm too old. In a very few years I shall be a middle-aged man. That' I'm sure, has never occurred to you. You were sweet and young and lovely and intelligent. You were someone very special. I never intended for you to get the hold on me that you did get. Perhaps if I had lived less violently and you had lived more the gap in our ages would not have made me tear up the various letters I began to you. You underrate yourself, Judith. Your love for me flattered me immensely."

"Flattered you?"

He nodded. "I told you once that you made me romantic. You made me ridiculous, too, almost ridiculous enough to ask you to marry me . . . I can't expect you to understand about Fay."

"Because I loved you, Max, could I blame her for loving you, too?"

"You're very fair."

"You told me once that I was arrogant. I didn't believe you then. But I know now that I was both selfish and arrogant and wrong about so many things. I had to be hurt to understand and to appreciate the things and people I'd taken for granted. I had to be hurt to see that I didn't really want to be successful. My father told me that a lone successful person is the loneliest person in the world . . . We were very romantic, Max, but we weren't very real. We were never commonplace, but I've learned to value the little, common, ordinary things that keep people close. You kept from me the real knowledge of you. We never shared anything. You came and went like a man in a play, a man whose outside life you have to visualize."

"I loved you very dearly. You won't scorn me for saying it now, will you?"

"No. No, I believe you. I believe that you did. And you've answered a puzzle that has tormented me for a long time. 'Doubt everything and everyone, if you must, but never doubt my love.' You said that to me. You loved me but you were afraid."

He nodded. "Of being a middle-aged man married to a young girl. Afraid of being unfair to you. Life owes you so much I can't give you, Judith. It's ahead of you and finished for me. You're the—the too bright sun."

MacArthur Will Inspire Confidence

ANNOUNCEMENT that General Douglas MacArthur has been made supreme commander of the United Nations forces in the Far East, and that he is already in charge of the vitally important offensive action in the southwestern Pacific, is the most heartening bit of news that has yet come through from that part of the world.

MacArthur's heroic and brilliant defense of Batan peninsula in the Philippines, against vastly stronger and better equipped Japanese invaders, won the admiration and respect of all Americans and of other Allied nations as well.

In the midst of occurrences which showed lack of preparations for inevitable war with Japan, MacArthur evidenced foresight in his methods of training and making ready the small force he was permitted to have in the Philippines and looked ahead to the Batan peninsula as most suitable for a final stand after surrender of the city of Manila.

Australia now becomes the center of interest in the titanic struggle of civilization against savagery that is going on in the Far East, and it is gratifying to know that MacArthur's transfer to that command followed request and insistence by Australia's defenders that this change be made.

It cannot be doubted that, for a number of weeks, it has been determined by the Allied nations that Australia should become the focal point for offensive action against Japan, and it is from this small continent that much of the force of military might must flow in carrying the war to Japan.

If the inspiration which General MacArthur has thus far given the American people continues, and if this can be carried to the point of influencing replacements and changes of policies in Washington which will also be effective in strengthening public confidence, much more will have been accomplished in behalf of an "all out" war effort than can now be estimated.

No Time for Partisan Criticism

MORE harm than good is probably done by such an attack as Congressman Taber, Republican, of New York, made a couple of nights ago in a speech before the Women's National Republican club of New York.

The speech was obviously partisan and political, at a time when partisan politics is quite remote from the minds of practically everybody except officeholders, office seekers and political hangers-on.

It must have been as a Republican, rather than as an American, that Congressman Taber made the charge, "Everybody in Washington seems to be trying their best to put the defense program across except the president and a certain group that he has surrounded himself with."

This is unfair. It cannot be doubted that, to the extent of his ability, President Roosevelt has done, and will continue to do the things that he believes best for this country in furtherance of the war effort.

His insistence on retaining such persons as Harry Hopkins and Frances Perkins in positions of high authority and his failure to depart from the group of supporters of his New Deal policies in selecting men to fill positions requiring special qualifications, is no more than an exhibition of the stubbornness he displayed in battling for Supreme Court revamping and other of his New Deal measures.

What Congressman Taber should keep in mind, and what all Americans should remember, is that this country is now at war—a war that is still far from being won—and that dependence must be placed on President Roosevelt as commander in chief of the nation's military forces.

Proper criticism of his acts, and mention of the incompetency of persons he has placed—and is keeping—in positions for which they are entirely unfitted, are fully justified, but there should be no intimation that President Roosevelt is not earnestly and sincerely striving to bring victory to the Allied cause as quickly as possible.

Enlightenment for Post-War World

THE PRESIDENT of Ohio State university urges American colleges to be careful about "junking" courses of study, and to do as little of it as possible. For there is not only a war to win now but a "post-war world" to win hereafter, and young men and women must be prepared for that job as well as the present one.

Medicine, engineering, chemistry, physics, biology and meteorology, he remarks, should be pushed now because they are greatly needed. But after the war there will be need for philosophy, ethics, psychology, and so on, to shape the fair and enlightened world that we shall want to live in hereafter.

Just as an army without doctors is no army at all, he observes, so "a world without philosophers, without thinkers, without a trained sense of right and wrong, is lost." In our own times we have seen nations go down for lack of these.

The Land That Wasn't There

EVERYBODY'S heard of lots sold by the wily salesman, which later turned out to be under water at high tide or out in a rocky or swampy wilderness completely inaccessible by car, horse, boat, canoe or on foot. Usually the buyer finds out the sad truth sooner or later. It remained for Col. W. Stacey Phillips of Salisbury, Md., to buy a plot of tax-delinquent county land at public auction and then to spend six years hunting for the land in vain.

The county officials finally refunded his $49.90 and are now looking for the land themselves. It's easy enough to see that some clerical error resulted in the mixup in this case.

Many people are buying land nowadays as a hedge against inflation. It's always a good idea for the prospective buyer to have at least one good look at the land before he pays out any money.

IT MAY BE A BIT COMPLICATED

FDR's 'Unified Command' Views

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON — President Roosevelt takes very seriously the fact that under the Constitution, he is commander in chief of the army and navy. It may be for that reason that he does not take kindly to the notion of a department of national defense, to include army, navy and air force, as advocated by Senator Bennett Champ Clark of Missouri and others.

The president's theory is that there is a "unified command" already, which is himself. Naturally he is fairly well satisfied with that, and considers the insertion of another executive between the present organizations and himself just the addition of that much unnecessary organization, with no resulting advantages.

There is much to be said for his position. But there is also something to be said against it, though there is nothing new on either side of the argument.

THE SHARPEST objection lies in our own form of government. Conceivably a man might make a fine president in all other respects, but not be a military genius. It is not fashionable to belittle Abraham Lincoln, or even hint that he was not the essence of perfection in every respect. However, the fact remains that as commander in chief of the armed forces of the Union he blundered around for practically the first three years of the war, trying one general after another until in Grant, Sherman and Sheridan he found the right prescription.

In the British government the prime minister, like our president, is virtually commander in chief of the armed forces. But the essential difference, as illustrated both in World war No. 1 and the present war, is that the commander in chief can be replaced if the country becomes convinced that he is not the right man for that job. Thus the British in the last war fumbled around until they got Lloyd George, and they have already swopped horses once in midstream and may do so soon again in the present war.

But the president of the United States is elected for a fixed term. Nothing can be done no matter how inept he may prove himself as a director of military strategy. Indeed, it is most unlikely that his ABILITY as a strategist would be the issue even when he goes to the country, at the end of a four-year term, in the midst of a war.

Thus when Abraham Lincoln faced George B. McClellan in the 1864 election the main issue was not that McClellan, as a soldier, would make a better war president than Lincoln, as would have been a logical enough campaign talking-point but whether the war should be continued at all.

THE PACIFISTS of that day wanted to stop the war and have peace. As they proposed that McClellan, if elected, should make peace, naturally they did not bother much to stress his qualifications as a military leader for continuing the war.

On the president's side in the present controversy, it is unthinkable to have a war president who would not have the right to appoint whom he pleased as head of the "unified command" should there be one, just as he has the right and power now to name, the secretaries of war and the navy, and the generals and admirals who shall direct the high strategy. So the president would not be divested of responsibility.

Realizing which, the president prefers to operate without the added office of Unified Command.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Saturday, March 18, 1922.

There was strong opposition to naval limitation agreement with Japan and it was believed by many that war had been narrowly averted.

O. L. Enos, traveling passenger agent of Erie railroad, observed 54th birthday anniversary.

Birth report: Son to Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Smith, 48 Willow street.

Thomas W. Rownd, Flint street, observed 70th birthday anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Sutherland, entertained friends on their ninth wedding anniversary.

Miss Minnie Schwier and Paul W. Minich were married by Rev. G. A. Kienle.

Son was born to Mr. and Mrs. John Ish, 55 Miller street.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

Thursday, March 18, 1937.

Curtis H. Sheads, 47, superintendent of the printing department at Ohio State reformatory, died at his home on Poplar street.

Son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stewart, R. D. 3.

Hundreds of pupils in the London consolidated school in New London, Texas, were killed when an explosion destroyed the school.

An automobile operated by H. M. Davis and a truck driven by Fred Snyder collided on West Fourth street.

William McClurg, a sophomore at DePauw university, was elected house manager and freshman marshal of Alpha Omega fraternity.

TODAY IN HISTORY

A mere ten minutes before the teachers and children would have gone for the day, an explosion of natural gas, piped in for heating purposes, destroyed the Consolidated public school in New London, Tex., on March 18, 1937. The dead numbered 293.

Man About Manhattan

Jeopardy In Jive

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Outside of an occasional dislocated hip for too much jitterbugging I never thought modern swing carried many perils. Now Les Hite, the well known Negro band leader, disabuses this complacency with a few choice incidents out of his own experience.

"I used to get colds in my left ear all the time," he says, "because I sat next to an accordionist whose instrument leaked and blew cold air into my ear."

Anything really gory?

"Yes," says Hite, "violinists have been known to lose their eyesight because of a split catgut, and trombonists have inflicted brain concussions by violently extending their slides against the skulls of musicians sitting in front of them. I used to know a vibraphonist, with Benny Goodman, who came in out of the rain and almost electrocuted himself by touching the electric instrument before he was dry. Once the strings of a bull fiddle snapped and knocked the fiddler unconscious. Walter Gross, the CBS conductor, broke his collar bone when the lid of a grand piano fell on him. You gotta be careful if you fool around with that stuff. Swing, I mean. It's dynamite. I play sax."

WHEN "The Invaders" opened at the Capitol in New York they hoped to have the stars on hand. It seemed that openings go much better when you have stars than otherwise. But pretty soon some trouble developed. They couldn't get Laurence Olivier because that actor is with the RAF. They couldn't get Leslie Howard because he is in London. They couldn't get Raymond Massey because he couldn't leave an assignment in Hollywood, and they couldn't get Gladys Johns because she was on location.

What to do? Somebody thought of an Eskimo from Baffin Bay, who is also in the picture. So they brought this Eskimo all the way to New York. He flew part way, and came the rest of the way by rail.

BUT that wasn't the pay-off. When they got him here he seemed friendly and liked the place fine.

Finally, a reporter dropped around and asked him his name.

"Abe Broomfield," the Eskimo replied proudly, "and this is my first time out of the Arctic."

It seems that Abe's dad was killing a little time in the trading post one day and saw a packing crate with the name "Abe Broomfield" stenciled on it. They were expecting a baby at his igloo about then, and when it turned out to be a boy, he gave it the name of the anonymous dealer in far away Manhattan who sent supplies to the trading posts of the far north. If Abe can locate his old namesake while he's in New York he plans to pay him a friendly little call.

Jesse Jones Put On Sizzling Grill For Refusing Aid To Small Firms

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Secretary Jesse Jones was very wise in insisting that he be heard behind closed doors when he testified before the senate banking committee on the Murray bill to aid small business. The RFC czar ran into some hot grilling that would have made front page stories had reporters been allowed in.

Democratic Leader Alben Barkley and Senators Robert Taft of Ohio and James H. Hughes of Delaware supplied most of the fireworks, with charges that the RFC was giving speedy clearance on loans to big war contractors, while small firms begging for sub-contracts were cold-shouldered.

"The big fellow never has much trouble getting financing for a war order," Taft asserted, "but you will argue with the war or the navy department for a month about extending a loan to a little business man."

"I deny that, sir," replied Jones indignantly. "We will argue about ten minutes."

"The RFC always is raising the argument that loans to small business may not be repaid," retorted Taft. "Well, you make plenty of loans to big concerns with no more chance of repayment. I notice you loaned an airplane company $90,000,000. If the need for airplane engines should fall off, you will not get that back."

"The government is protected," parried Jones. "We will own the plant."

"Yes," shot back Taft. "That's the main thing you always think about, making or losing money. If you aren't aware of it, Mr. Jones, allow me to inform you that we are beyond that point. The big question that faces us now is winning the war. That's the only thing that counts."

The Run-Around.

JONES hardly had time to recover from this panning when Hughes and Barkley began working out on him. The Delaware senator bitterly criticized the "run-around" given little business by the RFC.

"Under the present setup," Hughes said, "small business has to get a contract from the war or navy department before it can get a loan from you, and you will not grant the loan until it gets the contract."

"That's right," chimed in Barkley hotly. "And that's exactly why we need legislation like this bill for the little fellow. The RFC already is taking care of the big fellow. If a small business man tries to get a contract from the war department and needs finances to carry out the contract, they tell him, 'We will let you have the contract if you can get an RFC loan.' Then he goes to the RFC and is told 'We will let you have the money if you can get the contract.'

"There ought to be some place where the two things meet. Maybe this legislation, which sets up a special division for small business under the War Production Board, with power to make loans and assist the little fellow in getting contracts, is the answer. The record shows that small business is getting little, if any, help from the RFC."

More RFC Stalling.

LATEST CASE of RFC pennypinching stalling of a vital defense contract that has come to the committee's attention and aroused hot indignation is that of the Northern Pump company, Minneapolis, Minn.

The largest maker of navy ordnance in the country, the concern has an excellent financial and business record. In the last few years it has grown from 1,000 to 6,000 employes and now has over $100,000,000 in navy orders.

Last year the company was given a $23,000,000 navy contract for some urgently needed ordnance. To finance this rush order the firm asked the RFC for a $3,000,000 loan.

After weeks of time-marking the RFC finally offered to lend $1,000,000 provided the company put up more than $2,000,000 in assets, its valuable patent rights, and notes signed personally by its executives.

In other words, despite the fact that the company had a $23,000,000 navy ordnance order, which the navy was clamoring for, Jesse Jones' RFC would not lend the concern more than $1,000,000 to fill this contract—and even then only if the company signed away its eye-teeth.

When the company executives protested this tight-fistedness, they were snapped off with "We are running a bank, not a defense agency."

Finally, despairing of getting any RFC help, the concern, through the intervention of another government agency, got it from the Minneapolis Federal Reserve bank. Within 24 hours after applying for a loan the bank gave the company unlimited credit.

But in the meanwhile three months of priceless time had been lost because of the RFC's money-grubbing obstructionism.

Travel-Hogs.

DURING the noisy house battle over the agriculture department appropriation bill, hot words were hurled at a travel allowance item. It was charged that extravagance and waste were rife in government travel expenditures.

That is absolutely true. And what is equally true—though no mention of it was made in the house—is that the worst travel-boodling offender in the entire government is congress.

The country rose in arms over the attempted congressional pension grab, which would have cost the taxpayers around $100,000 a year. But what is not realized is that for years congress has been tapping the treasury for a sum nearly twice that amount, $171,000 a year, in the form of a travel allowance.

Under this neat till-raiding scheme, every member of congress gets a check for one round trip a year from his home to Washington at the rate of 20 cents a mile—regardless of whether the trip is made or not.

Further, congress voted that it be paid this juicy tidbit in advance.

So every January, at the beginning of a session, the boys go down to the cashier's window and draw in advance their year's travel grab at the rate of 20 cents a mile to and from their homes.

Two of the loudest denouncers of the travel fund item in the agricultural bill were Representative Everett Dirksen, bushy-haired Illinoian, and Representative Mike Monroney, gangling Oklahoman. Dirksen's travel "take" this year was $396 and Monroney's $571.

Neither has said a word or lifted a finger to put an end to their own travel-boodling.

Certain members of congress are very hot for economy—except when it hits their own pockets.

Watching Trends

—By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON — Apparently road builders and planners in some states have failed to understand that "highways-as-usual" are out for the duration just as positively as "business as usual."

The trek of persons to Washington demanding that roads be built as usual or even faster and the volume of mail to congressmen with the same request not only continues but seems to be growing.

Rep. Wilburn Cartwright, of Oklahoma, chairman of the House roads committee, says: "Often the roads the people seek have some military value as indeed almost every road has in the final analysis. But," he adds, "even the army and navy can't have all the roads they like. Only the most urgent construction is possible."

NOT so very long ago, congress appropriated $150,000,000 for national defense highways — but only after a lot of fiddling around and the passage of one measure which the president vetoed on the grounds that too many of the road-builders in congress still were thinking in terms of "political" allocation of highway money.

On the basis of first war needs first, $100,000,000 of this appropriation has already been allocated and construction is under way on many of the projects. In some circles, it is considered positive that new appropriations will have to be made soon. But let's see what "first war needs first" consist of.

Aside from the access roads to new military encampments, there are such vital needs as—let us say—the new Ford bomber plant at Ypsilanti, Mich. This new factory will employ around 50,000 persons. A pre-survey indicates that 22,000 private cars will be used in getting labor to and from work. Plant officials say that 25 per cent of the raw materials will come in by truck; 60 per cent of finished products will move out that way.

This is only one of 750 plants in Michigan supplying war materials, says Cartwright, and according to war and navy estimates 75 per cent of the total workers in those plants use private transportation to get to work and back.

GIVE this just a moment's thought. Isn't it more important that highways now be given priority to maintain the production effort than that some probably (but still hypothetically) viral military road be built to combat an attacking enemy? What good are military roads without the machines of war to defend them? That, at the moment, is the reasoning of the agencies who are voting and allocating funds for highways proposed or now under construction.

In order to get a new highway constructed these days, it first is necessary to convince the army and navy that it is vital from a military standpoint. But there is one other important hurdle: the War Production Board. It can say even to the army and navy: "Which do you want: a road that the soldiers and sailors can use; or a road that will double the ships, planes, tanks and guns now rolling off the assembly lines?"

That's why "highways-as-usual" or even partially strategic highways will have to wait their turn.

A Farmer's Diary

Seed Catalogs

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

THIS is a blustery March evening. Our furnace fire beats back the cold with tropic heat, but the metal roof rattles and strains in the gusts and about the window casings fine siftings of snow spray in. The old oil lamp flickers slightly in the current.

Unmindful of the beating squalls without, the boys and I are intent on the seed catalogs. Comparing the highly colored pages of three favorite companies, we call each other's attention to the items of greatest interest.

Seed time—better methods of culture and of harvest! It is a lovely story that each seedsman tries to tell. It is a hopeful story that springs eternal from the goodness of the earth. It is as though the spring and summer season were a little day within itself, lived fully and completely.

Upon a plain sheet of paper, the oldest boy plots with me the various field crops while two smaller brothers look on. Alfalfa, corn, soybeans, potatoes, rye—for pasture for the cows and hogs—and pickles . . . without the many backaches added. With careful lines we plot the garden. Tomatoes—this year we'll stake them; the new variety of everybearing blackberry plants; two kinds of strawberries; short lines of carrots, beets, radishes and onions; thornless boysenberries, the new black cap raspberries and the scarlet giant reds.

How well the field and garden crops appear on the pictured pages—white and gold of sweet corn; red and russet of potatoes; glorious shading of fruit and flowers. Wheat and oats, rust and smut resistant, that will yield 40 and 80 bushels, respectively. Rape for hogs; chicken lettuce to furnish tender green for poultry all during the summer; ornamental gourds and curious brilliant squashes.

The garden and the fields are filled with drifting snow, tonight. The ground is frozen. Red clover roots are heaved high above the surface and appear like whited, frozen worms. From the hilltops the roar of the wind in the trees sweeps down the valley.

But within this little cottage, where a farmer's family pores over the catalogs, there is warmth and sheltering hope, and rugged joy of something to be garnered in the future.

Here Are Order Numbers for County's Registrants

LOTTERY SETS UP SCHEDULE OF INDUCTION

Numbers Determine When Boards Send Questionnaires and Calls For Army.

Here are the selective service order numbers drawn last night in Washington as they apply to Richland countians who registered Feb. 14, 15, and 16.

The order number, which will be the important one from now on, is listed first in the column and the serial number next. Registrants can determine their order numbers by finding their serial numbers in the second column and noting the numbers in front of them.

Here's the course to follow:

Take a ruler, follow down the list of numbers until you come to your own serial number, and the other number before it is then you order number.

This is the final step in ascertaining your order number if you are in Board 1, but for those of you in Boards 2 and 3 there is an additional step.

If your are in Board 2, start down the list of serial numbers, crossing out every number above 1529, until you come to your own serial number. Then deduct from the order number before your serial number the exact number of cancellations you've made, and the resulting figure will be your order number.

If you are in Board 3, start down the list of serial numbers, crossing out every number above 1665, until you reach your own serial number.

From there on you do the same as Board 2 registrants. For instance, if your order number is 825, and you have scratched out 15 serial numbers, deduct 15—which gives you the order number 810

As the registrant learns his order number, his serial number, the one assigned several days ago by the local draft board, will no longer be of any value to him The order number will determine when he will receive his questionnaire and army call.

Order numbers which will be assigned officially by the local boards within a few days may vary slightly from the ones listed below because they will be taken from master sheets prepared in Washington eliminating any possibility of error.

Order numbers up to 1529 in Richland county will apply to three registrants, one in each board district Order numbers from 1529 to 1665 will affect two Richland county men, and numbers from 1,665 up to 1,828, highest number of men registered last month by any Richland county board, will concern only one man.

Order numbers beyond 1,828 will not affect any Richland countian because no board here has that many registrants in the February group

Errors Found In Order List

As the result of errors—some admittedly made in Washington, and some probably made in The News-Journal's own tabulation of numbers affecting Richland county—there are 1831 numbers listed herewith, six more than the 1828 men registered in Board One, the largest in the county.

Because of time limitations, it was impossible to trace down the errors—which are obviously duplication—before today's edition time.

However, these errors can do no more than move up a man more than one place in the order list, and the tabulation as presented here will be found to be substantially correct.

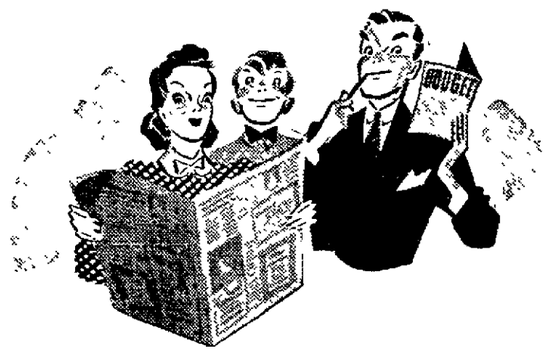
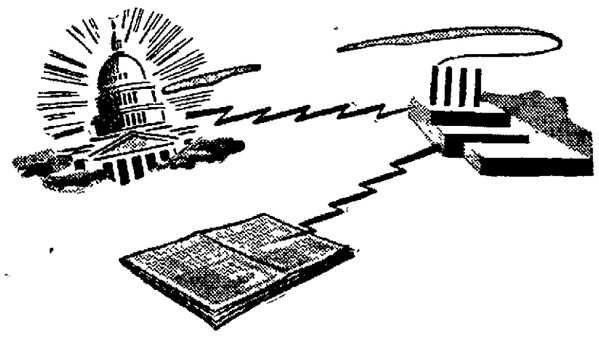
"You bet it does! As a retailer, I'm the link, you might say, between manufacturer and consumer. And what affects each of them under these wartime conditions is mighty important to me."



1. "Take Mrs. Consumer. She and her family have to plan their shopping more carefully than ever these days. They have to know in advance how and where they can make their dollars go furthest. In order to find out, they read newspaper ads."

2. "Why? Well, they've always turned to newspapers for news . . . and that means buying news in the ads, too. Today, with all this big war news popping, more people than ever are reading newspapers . . . and paying even closer attention to the ads."

3. "It's plain to see what this means to manufacturers. They know the best help they can give me in moving their goods off my shelves is newspaper advertising here in this community. And today this is stronger, faster-acting support than ever."



4. "Then, too, manufacturers these days often have to change their sales or distribution plans overnight, and newspapers are the only place where they can keep their advertising in step with these sudden changes, and keep customers coming in here."

This retailer is right! Wartime conditions are changing the making and selling and buying of goods. And the service of newspaper advertising, to manufacturer, dealer, and consumer, is greater than ever before. Today, more than ever, manufacturers produce more sales for their retailers . . . and themselves . . . when they advertise in local newspapers.

BUCYRUS PUBLIC GETS REPORT ON SHOP DISPUTE

Counsel Reviews Case; Plan To Use Building For War Work Sought.

BUCYRUS—The public was advised of action being taken by Bucyrus city council in the New York Central shops controversy at the regular meeting of city council Tuesday night when Charles F. Schaber, special counsel handling the case, made a public report.

That several offers had been made to which no reply had been received from the railroad company, was revealed by Schaber.

In making his report, Schaber briefly reviewed the history of the controversy, from the time the city contracted with the railroad company more than 50 years ago on the provision that the shops revert to the city should they at any time cease to be operated as the principal repair shops of the company to the present time when the city has under consideration an offer of $11,000 for a quit claim to the property. The offer made last summer has to date not been accepted by council.

Shaber advised that a definite proposition had been made the railroad company but declined to state what the proposition included. He also stated that he, in behalf of the city, had advised the railroad company that the city would enter into an agreement with the railroad for cooperation with any federal agency for government use of the shops with the stipulation that the agreement not jeopardize the final settlement of the original deed. He has received no reply to either proposition, he said.

No further action was taken by council.

J. D. Sears, attorney for the railroad company, recently announced that the U. S. War department had under consideration the local shops for the establishment of a plant for the manufacture of tanks for war use. No such information has come to the city officially, Schaber said.

Mayor William F. Whiteamire advised council that he had conferred with state highway officials on the question of widening Mansfield street, which is state highway 30N. Highway officials advised that the estimated cost of widening and resurfacing the street, both east and west of Washington square was $29,900 of which the city would be required to finance from 30 to 50 per cent. City council referred the proposal to the utility committee.

The city's bicycle ordinance, which went into effect two years ago, was amended to provide for the re-licensing of all bicycles every two years with a penalty of 60-days suspension of rights to operate a bicycle for failure to license the vehicle.

The question of erecting new traffic lights was solved for the city when officials were informed that light units would be unavailable for the duration of the war. Councilman Chester Sharrock advised members. Other traffic safety precautions were left in the hands of the utility committee, of which Sharrock is chairman.

PLAN FOR VISIT.

BUCYRUS—Members of Bucyrus American Legion auxiliary are anticipating a visit from the district president, Mrs. C. C. Oyler of Fostoria, April 6, and plans for her entertainment were made at a meeting of the auxiliary Monday night.

Mrs. Lowell L. Ringer, president, and Mrs. Harry Grose were elected as delegates to the district conference at Mansfield in April, and alternates named were Mrs. Dorothy Williams and Mrs. John A. Smith.

BUDGET OK'D FOR WILLARD

Council Approves $214,000 For Operating Expenses; Mayor Gives Report.

WILLARD—The budget appropriation of $214,000 for operating expenses for Willard for the coming year was approved at the meeting of city council Monday evening and is to be submitted to the county budget commission.

Council voted to purchase a new electric refrigerator for Municipal hospital.

The report of Mayor E. L. Wolff for the past month showed the following collections; fines $27.50; fees $24.60 and licenses $2.

INSPECTION SET

ASHLAND—Inspection of Mrs. Peter Redding Tent No. 83, Daughters of Union Veterans, will be held April 6 at the G. A. R. Memorial hall. Mrs. Bertha Droz of Mansfield, past national president, will be inspecting officer.

Mrs. Joe Bryan, Mrs. William Benninghof, Mrs. Hallie Egger, Mrs. Vern Plice, Mrs. J. R. Ryder and Mrs. Glenn Stentz are members of the committee which will plan for a social program following the inspection.

HOLD RESTAURATEUR

BUCYRUS—Police are holding John Solze, proprietor of the American restaurant on North Sandusky avenue, until he makes satisfactory arrangements for a sanitary rest room. Solze remained open Monday after his place had been ordered closed by Gay Owens, Marion, state inspector, police said.

THE TRUTH ABOUT FOOD SHORTAGES

A Message to the Grocers of America

YOU GROCERS who have helped American women set the world's best table, easily and economically, have a new responsibility today.

During this war there are bound to be shortages in some grocery items. But we both know that there will be no lack of the basic foods which are essential to proper nutrition. There is and will be plenty to eat for all.

That's where you can do a big job for your country.

You men in direct contact with every family can do a lot for morale by merely stating the facts to your customers and not permitting any of your organization to pass along unfounded rumors and reports.

It's up to you now to sell your customers faith, hope and confidence—to spike grumbling and calamity-howling with optimism and assurance!

So don't say, "You'd better stock up on this—it's getting scarcer every day—I don't know when we will get any more," etc.

Don't permit anything to be said by your employees that can promote rumors and dissatisfaction. That is the kind of "fifth-column" thing we must fight—and you grocers can be of great assistance in helping people keep their chins up.

Face the situation with your usual common sense and well-grounded optimism.

By mobilizing your sales staff to meet this new, broader task . . . by sending customers out of your store with a clear understanding of the sacrifices it should be a privilege to make...you will do a real service to your country.

Under present conditions, you will at times be called upon to say that certain foods are unavailable, or to limit the generous quantities you have been accustomed to sell; but we know that you, as quartermaster to the American family, will perform this duty with a sense of pride and responsibility.

Any so-called shortages will, in the main, be caused by senseless buying waves created by dangerous and usually groundless rumors.

Fight against over-buying. Discourage it by setting an example in your own purchasing. Discourage it with your trade because over-buying in itself is the cause of most shortages.

Let your customers know that any shortages will simply require the use of other equally edible and nourishing products—that changing our menus slightly is about the easiest sacrifice we can make for the greatest country on earth. Impress upon them that manufacturers and suppliers are alert and will keep a generous supply of food on your shelves at all times.

Never has there been more reason to provide for a bountiful table in this country. It's an essential part of our war plan that not only our armed forces but people behind the lines are going to be better fed than ever.

War is not new to H. J. Heinz Company. Heinz factories in England, Canada and Australia have been supplying food to the people and armies of our allies. In its 73 years of service, Heinz has helped to feed America during the Spanish-American and the first World War.

Today, new products and new scientific methods of packing are being developed continually as our contribution to the building of a better-nourished, healthier America.

And we are continuing to make available a long list of the famous 57 Varieties . . . prepared from select ingredients in spotless, modern kitchens . . . so that the keystone label still assures the time-saving convenience of ready-to-serve dishes and the delicious flavors all America loves.

For your part, as the direct contact between manufacturer and the people, in the vital distribution of food, you must continue to include the priceless ingredient of morale with every sale—making your store a constant source of truth, courage and inspiration!

TELLS ROTARY HOW COLLEGES PREPARE FOR PEACE AFTER WAR

Colleges of America are now preparing for peace, Dr. Gordon K. Chalmers, president of Kenyon college at Gambier, told the Mansfield Rotary club at its meeting yesterday.

"First item of this enormous task," Dr. Chalmers said, "Is to help win the war. Americans cannot think of peace in any other terms. Toward this end colleges are heeding in detail the advice and requests of the Army and the Navy.

"All this points toward the importance to the soldier and sailor and defense worker of intensive training of the mind—particularly training in mathematics, languages, physics, and medicine, and training also in how to think quickly and clearly."

Preparation for peace requires considerable thought now about after the war, and Americans must decide about the old bogey of isolationism, Dr. Chalmers said. He expressed belief that after the war the United States will have to do a certain amount of policing.

A post-war intellectual problem is posed by our increasing involvement in the Pacific and our ignorance of oriental languages, literature, philosophy, history, geography and politics, he said.

"It will probably be necessary soon for American college girls and boys to study Chinese and Japanese," he said. "The need for an intelligent study of the Far East among Americans right now approaches the necessity during and after the last war of an intelligent study of Central Europe."

William C. Mead, president of the club, presided, and Rev. Glenn F. Lewis, pastor of Grace Episcopal church, was program chairman for the day and introduced the speaker.

Here's what YOU can doto help America when you travel

Plan Mid-Week Trips To Ease Week-End Congestion!
SAVE TIME
Pre-arrange Your Trip
SAVE MATERIALS
Vital to War Efforts
AVOID CROWDS
Go before Mid-Summer
YOU can travel today as before — but you'll be helping yourself as well as your country if you cooperate in several important ways. Wartime conditions tend to crowd transportation facilities on week-ends, the only time many soldiers, sailors, war workers can travel. Taking mid-week trips will relieve congestion—for instance, shopping tours, social visits, business trips, recreational travel, even visits to men at camps. And if you'll arrange to get tickets, schedules, information well before departure time, you'll avoid delays and confusion.
If you're taking a vacation this year plan to go before the mid-summer rush. Going by bus instead of by car, you'll be saving vital materials America needs. Buses carry a passenger several times as far per pound of rubber, per gallon of fuel.

GEN. JOHNSON: Promises End to War Production Delays

By GEN. HUGH S. JOHNSON

WASHINGTON — Before the reports of the disastrous naval battle of Java, a story began circulating in Washington of a great American naval victory in which the main Japanese fleet was pictured as being caught off guard and taking a terrific mauling.

Gen. Johnson.

Nobody mentioned it in the press, because it had no official on - the - record confirmation, and because of the voluntary censorship which makes commentators wary of giving out even "it-is-said" stories of this kind.

The official idea is that enough time should be given to get our ships out of the dangerous area before the enemy learns of the engagement.

That is a pretty hard one to understand, because the enemy is more likely to hear of its own naval engagements in Far Eastern waters before we do. Also the Japanese have been pretty liberal with news—even of their own set-backs.

Now, however, that question is not very important. Apparently, with the approval of whatever censorship applies to broadcasting, two radio prophets and predictors have broken the story over the air to about the effect given above.

It still lacks official confirmation, but, whether it is true or not, this is censorship and propaganda—or both—at its worst.

If the story is true, it certainly should not have been withheld until the acknowledged defeat off Java has occurred, nor should it have been officially delayed on any theory of serving up to us a big sweet dish to be taken as an antidote for a smaller bitter one. We can take our medicine more manfully than that.

The tendency of any such babying is to shake public faith in any war story that comes out of Washington, especially after so many embroidered ones have been handed to us.

If the story is not true, it is one of the few and certain cases where an effective ban by censorship would be amply justified and approved by all thoughtful people. We don't need to have our courage stimulated by falsehoods.

Whatever harm we can do to Japanese naval power is all on the credit side of our ledger and we want to know about it. But, barring such a crippling of it and its attendant air-power, that, regardless of the distance, difficulties and handicaps, it is incapable of sustained resistance, the current talk of 'carrying offensive war to Japan" and her defeat in 1942 is equally misleading.

Incendiary bombs dropped on her highly combustible cities by overwhelming air-power would produce more destructive results than elsewhere. But it has yet to be proved that a strong military nation can be completely subdued by bombs alone, and we simply do not yet have the equipment and trained armies and, above all, the ships to send a sufficient ground force to Japa. to take advantage of the havoc we might cause by our bombing.

We won't and can't have it in 1942, especially if we engage in "all-out" offensive operations in Europe.

The success and principal characteristic of the gangster nations has been the thoroughness of planning and preparation for each great blow before it was struck. We lack all this. We are building with more rapidity than many of us thought possible. But we are not ready yet.

We must be patient until we are ready, and our government must abandon its policy of leading our people to believe that we are stronger or more successful than we are.

PREDICT SENATE O. K. ON WOMAN AUXILIARY UNIT

Senators See Prompt Approval of Measure For Feminine Army Contingent.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—Senate leaders today predicted prompt and favorable action on the house approved bill creating the nation's first women's auxiliary army corps

Sen Lister Hill (D, Ala.) sponsor of a similar measure, said that the upper chamber would vote favorably on the house bill just as soon as matters now being considered on the floor are concluded.

The senate military affairs committee already has favorably reported the Hill proposal and it is likely that the house measure may be substituted for the Alabaman's bill. Hill said that he was sure the senate would approve the bill "by a safe margin."

On a roll-call vote of 249 to 86, the house approved the women's corps bill, after adopting an amendment to limit the size of the corps to 150,000 members.

Rep. Edith Rogers (R, Mass.) author of the house measure, declared that the WAAC would enable the war department to make maximum use of its enlisted men in combat service.

The women, serving as "civilians" with the army, would be paid at the same rate as draftees or enlisted men, and would be subject to identical military regulation and discipline.

Initially, Mrs. Rogers asserted, the non-combatant women's corps would number between 12,500 and 17,500, and would be employed at air raid filter centers.

Purpose of the measure, is to replace army men with women in non-combatant tasks for which they are peculiarly adapted. Besides air raid duty, women may be employed as cooks, laundresses, and to perform necessary office and communications tasks.

While enrollment is voluntary, the women would be enlisted for the duration of the war—and would be subject to service both at home and over-seas. If injured or killed in the line of duty, compensation would be paid on a scale now accorded to civilian employes of the war and navy departments.

A Lorain resident didn't see why there should be such an uproar about a man climbing through the window of his rooming house after a St. Patrick's Day celebration. The only trouble was that he mistook another house for his rooming house and was arrested by police on complaint of the owner. Then too, the man suffered a severe laceration on the right leg received when he broke the window on the way in. He was fined $15 and costs after pleading guilty to an intoxication charge this morning in municipal court.

NELSON WILL 'KNOCK DOWN' INTERFERENCE

Broadcasts Message Both Management, Unions Must End Indifference.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Donald M. Nelson has given America a new promise—to knock down all interference to war production, whether from management haggling or union slowups.

In a broadcast message to the nation last night the war production chief said the country's factories already were turning out war goods in large volume and that plane production had gone up more than 50 per cent since Dec. 7.

"But this is no reason for false complacency," he said. We need more and forever more of these weapons, and we need them now. We have got to realize the value of time.

"Here is what time is worth. A machinegun factory in full swing can equip a whole regiment in a day and a half. Thirty-six hours of work. That's why hours are important. Every minute counts.

"Yet some manufacturers have come to the war production board to plead for just a few extra mouths before going into production. Some of them want to delay over details. Some of them argue before awarding a subcontract. I know of a case where 26 days were wasted this way. You and I will not stand for that.

"Then too, I know of cases where workers in war plants have been told by other workers—by men in their own unions—to keep production down, to take it easy, not to hurry, to spread the job out and make the work last. You and I will not stand for that.

"These cases are not typical. They are becoming fewer and fewer. In my opinion they simply reflect the fact that a few people just haven't got it through their heads that this is a life-and-death matter. I pledge my word to the American people that I will knock down such indifference or interference wherever I find it."

Nelson said Axis propaganda agents were trying to wreck the government's speed-up drive and cautioned that "groundless fears of a few people could bog down the whole effort."

It was understood he referred to claims by the Berlin radio that the production drive, with its joint labor-management committees in war plants, was a scheme to Sovietize American industry.

Nelson said the program was "not a management plan, a labor plan or any other plan It is the war production board plan"

During the next two weeks the program is to be explained to labor and management groups in a series of regional meetings. After these meetings, Nelson said, the success of the drive "is up to the men and women, labor and management in the plants."

Among the first groups to respond was the Steel Workers Organizing committee (CIO) which notified Nelson it was ready to meet with management committees to map an immediate program for increased steel production.

BUSIEST DAY

Treasurer Collects $21,965 as Tax Deadline Nears.

Richland county property owners turned $21,965 into the county treasury Tuesday and gave the treasurer's office the busiest day it has had since the tax books opened for real estate collections for the first half of 1941.

Yesterday's record collection, almost double that of the day before, was due to the fact that the deadline for payments is only two days off and approximately $228,000 is still to be collected. Payments to date total $470,923.

County Treasurer Charles Payne said that he expected a rush in the office from now until the books close Friday. Meanwhile personal tax collections continue to climb with $29,940 having been paid for classified taxes and $9,238 for general taxes.

DEATH CLAIMS L. W. LASER, 79

4-H CLUBS PLAN MOBILIZATION

Richland County Children To Be Organized During Week of April 4-11.

Richland county 4-H clubs will be organized for the coming season during national 4-H Mobilization week, April 4 to 11, according to plans made last night by county 4-H club advisors at a banquet and planning session held in the First Methodist church.

An advisory council of five members to work with county extension agents in carrying on the 4-H program throughout the county was elected by the group. The members include, Mrs. Olive Walker, Jefferson township; Mrs. F. P. Barr, Troy township; Max McFarland, Washington township; Richard Gramly, Weller township, and Robert Weimer, Mitflin township.

County Agent George B. Ganyard acted as chairman at the meeting and introduced Miss Eva Kinsey of Columbus assistant state club leader, who spoke on the topic, "The Fourth 'H' is for Health." Miss Kinsey showed that while statistics make health seem to be a matter of mass concern yet only as individuals give it careful consideration can good health be achieved.

The advisors made plans to emphasize food production and food preservation in 1942 including vegetable gardening, livestock production and nutrition projects. A health program for each member will also be outlined and a poster contest introduced.

RENT FREEZE 'STRANGULATION' FEARED BY REAL ESTATE MEN

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS — If Ohio real estate operators are to be forced out of business by governmental "freezing" of rents—and they believe they will be—they want to be eliminated "fast like the automobile industry to forestall slow strangulation."

Members of the Ohio Real Estate board met yesterday to draft recommendations for the Office of Price Administration for promulgating legislation "freezing" rents in defense areas

"We have all seen rents pyramided to prohibitive levels," T. K. Harris, of Canton, president of the board, said. "The result will ultimately be that the government will step in to regulate rents and real estate men will find themselves in the same predicament automobile men are in"

All members of the board were agreed, that if private operation of rentals is abolished they want it done "quickly and without any arbitrariness from Washington."

The OPA already has declared six Ohio cities defense areas and has given them 60 days in which to adjust their rents voluntarily to a standard at which they were on a given "fair rent day" last year. If, at the end of that time, all rents have not been reduced to the "fair maximum" OPA will automatically lower all rents to the standard and appoint an administrator to supervise setting of rents.

Cities which have been proclaimed defense areas so far are Cleveland, Akron, Ravenna, Canton, Massilion and Youngstown

In the Canton - Massillon area rents have risen an average of nearly 20 per cent within the last year, Penfold said More than half of the homes in the area were affected by rent increases.

Between Oct. 15, 1940 and Oct 15, 1941 rents in the Dayton area rose nearly 15 per cent Three out of every five homes were affected

The average increase in rent in Youngstown during the same period was 17 per cent. Two of every five homes were subjected to increased rents, Penfold said

ELECT GILLILAND

Superintendents Name Lucas Man as Tourney Manager.

Richland county school superintendents last night elected V Leland Gilliland, superintendent at Lucas, as basketball tournament manager for next year He succeeds Willard S. Weekley Butler superintendent, who was manager for the past year.

Tournament receipts the past season amounted to $845.80, Supt. Boyd Robinson reported, and this total will be distributed equally among the schools that participated The 1942 receipts were nearly $100 less than those for the preceding year.

The superintendents were advised by Dr. William B Wild, city-county health commissioner, that the state dental mobile unit would begin its rounds of the county schools starting March 30 at Lucas. Dates for the unit's visit to each school were fixed.

League Expects To Finish Quiz On Election Soon

Mansfield League of Women Voters expects to complete by tomorrow a poll of a representative cross-section of the city in an effort to ascertain why citizens do, or do not, cast their vote at the primaries.

Miss Lois MacKellar, city librarian, heads the committee of five conducting the interviews and expects to call for reports from the group tomorrow. Other members on the committee are Mrs. A. M. Colby, Mrs Arthur Gutterman, Mrs. Paul Swank, Mrs. R. E. Moore and Mrs. Pearl Hautzenroeder. Each committee member was responsible for interviewing 12 persons.

The poll, planned by the Ohio League of Women Voters, was inspired by the bills introduced during the last session of the Ohio General assembly that would have opened the way for repeal of the Ohio primary law. At that time the argument was advanced that few people use the right of franchise at the primary.

DATES To Remember

March 1—April 1—Opening and closing dates for obtaining 1942 automobile license tags.

March 17—National draft lottery.

March 20—Final day for paying county real estate taxes.

April 1—Deadline for filing personal tax returns.

SOCIETY & CLUBS

INTERESTING PROGRAM PRESENTED FOR CLUB

Current Events and Book Review Given for Tourist Club After Luncheon at Women's Club Yesterday.

LUNCHEON was served at the Women's Club at 1 o'clock Tuesday afternoon when Mrs. William Jesson and Mrs. S. D. Hoover were hostesses to the Tourist club. Twenty members and one guest, Mrs. G. F. Sellers, were seated at a T-shaped table decorated with a bouquet of white sweet peas, stock and fern and St. Patrick's day appointments.

For the first portion of program, Mrs. J. W. Galbraith, Mrs. W. L. Parkinson and Mrs. R. F. Miller presented "What's New in the News." Mrs. Galbraith's subject was "India." She discussed India in the war, its self-government, its economic and political status, and the strategic importance of that country in the World war II.

Mrs. Parkinson also discussed India. She told of her acquaintance with Dr. D P. Pandia, former secretary to Gandhi, during her sojourn in the Panama Canal Zone and of his revelations of conditions in India. Mrs. Parkinson also described the country's national resources and industrialism, its position in the war and its loyalty to Great Britain.

Mrs Miller"s talk was divided into two parts. She discussed the construction, casualties and importance of the Burma road, emphasizing that, as a military supply line, it is a vital factor in the war. Second portion of her talk was about life in the U. S. army as described in a letter from a soldier at Camp Lee, Va

With fine penetration and in an interesting manner, Mrs. E. G. Corwin reviewed the book "Windswept" by Mary Ellen Chase. The book is a chronicle of the fortunes of the Marston family, their friends and relatives from before the building of "Windswept," a house on the Maine coast, until 1939.

Mrs. Weldon P. Close will be hostess for the next meeting at the Women's Club on March 31.

Color Guide for Spring

Mallinson

By DOROTHY ROE
Wide World Fashion Editor

Show your colors this spring, but be sure they match.

There's nothing as sad, if you remember, as trying to match a navy blue suit wtih accessories and coming up with three or four different shades in hat, shoes, gloves and handbag.

This year, to make life simpler for the harried shopper, manufacturers have developed the epic idea of color related fashions, so that you may have a complete wardrobe, from head to heels, in colors that mix or match with the blandness of peaches and cream.

Important in the new simplified wartime color chart for spring are such light-hearted shades as Cheer Navy, Spruce Blue, Hush Beige, Town Brown, Yankee Marine, Flowerpot Brown, Ladyfinger Beige, Pinafore Blue, Dickybird Yellow and Drum Major Red. These basic dyes are available in dresses, suits, shoes, hats and accessories, at modet price, in gay, wearable styles.

Mix them or match them as you will, use two or even three colors at one fell swoop, and rest content in the knowledge that the tones that are supposed to match actually come out of the same dyepot.

It's a great idea for morale-on-a-budget.

Jealousy Causes War Heartaches

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Letters come to me in every mail, asking how to overcome jealousy. A soldier writes: "Jealousy is poisoning my whole life. I'm going with a girl who says she will marry me, but she insists on dating other boys. It 'burns me up'."

My young friend seems to think jealousy is a poisoned arrow which the fates have reserved especially for him alone. He should realize that jealousy is more prevalent than the common cold and, like the common cold, few escape it.

The human being is essentially a jealous animal. If you will study even infants you can see how they resent any fancied kindness shown to a brother or sister. We are, if anything, more bitterly jealous during school age, and the stigma of being "teacher's pet" often has sown seeds of unpopularity which took years to live down.

Next comes high school or party age with its bitter jealousies about popularity, partners, invitations and dates. Life is gall and wormwood if these things are denied. Letters from boys and girls —sophomores and seniors — are sometimes absolutely tragic. And all because the writers have not been asked to join some club or go to some party.

It's too bad that youth should waste its glamorous inheritance in grieving over something that in later life will seem so utterly unimportant. Jealousy, psychologists tell us, is a form of fear—dread of being deprived of something we wish to possess. Not flattering to yourself, is it, to be a victim of the green-eyed monster?

The first step toward freedom from this blight is to have greater confidence in yourself, in your own powers to hold your beloved. You need courage — the same brand of courage that overcame your fear of going into a dark room when you were a child.

At the moment, because of the war, jealousy seems to be having a national field day. The young wife whose husband goes marching off sees through her tears a succession of vamps waiting for him. Equally miserable is the soldier, too proud to tell his girl not to go out with other men while he's away.

A young friend in the navy writes: "If I didn't love this girl so deeply I wouldn't be jealous of every man who looks at her."

I tell him you can't own a human being as you own a dog. Even a dog which is watched and chained will make the first break for freedom which offers itself.

Men and women who are watched constantly and whose every action is seen through the distorted vision of jealousy are apt to find hatred rather than love in their hearts. They resent the indignity of being constantly spied upon and accused of things of which they are guiltless.

The cure? It is so simple that it is almost universally overlooked. Patience on the part of the beloved and willingness to explain away how groundless are these fears.

High Style Fashions, Fancy Work

By MARIAN MARTIN

It's a dress, but it looks like a suit, and gives you that same well-groomed look. It's Pattern 9013 and so very economical to make! See how trimly the blouse is fitted at the front waist by means of slashes; see how slim the two bias skirt panels make your hiplihe look . . . stripes or checks accentuate this effect. And the extended shoulder seam—so smart this year--makes your waist and hips seem smaller too!

Pattern 9013 may be ordered only in misses, sizes 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20. Size 16 requires 4⅜ yards 35 inch fabric.

Send fifteen cents (plus one cent to cover cost of mailing) for this Marian Martin Pattern. Be sure to write plainly your size, name, address and style number.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

"Okay," the driver said abruptly, then rose from the seat in front of me, stooping as he started for the front seat.

"You think that first road is the better one, don't you?" I asked, and his lips twisted into a sardonic grin.

"If you don't want to see that other car, or have the folks in it see you—yes," he said.

"Then that's settled," I told him. "Let me know when we come to Warren."

"Okay," he said again, and soon he was sending the car along Route 37, into which the other man had turned. I then spoke to Gus, sitting beside me.

Has Confidence In Gus.

"What do you know about this errand of mine, Gus?" I asked.

He smiled broadly at me, in the comradely fashion which has been most comforting in a number of emergencies in which he has served me.

"Not a thing," he answered, "except that you wanted to drive up into Connecticut somewhere, and that me and the other fellows was to take you there and see that you didn't get hurt."

"I'm sure that won't happen as long as you're on the job, Gus," I told him, warmly and sincerely. Then, choosing my words carefully, for I knew that my father would not wish the whole secret revealed even to so faithful a subordinate as Gus, I began the explanation which I knew he must have before we should get close to the mountain home of Professor Walter Scott Diswell.

Explains Her Errand.

"There's an old man living on Thunder Mountain," I said, "who knows something which my father wishes me to find out from him. I shall have to see him and talk to him for some little time, and—I shall have to talk to him alone."

A shadow settled on the eyes of the faithful man who had been intently listening to me — and watching me.

"That's not so good," he said, "Your father said I was to watch over you."

"And so you shall," I said. "You shall go with me right to the door of this old man, and you shall wait with me until he comes to the door and begins to talk with me. Then I will give you a signal, and you will stay outdoors while I go inside. But you may stay as near the house as you like."

"That will be the door-step," Gus said stubbornly. Then he put his hand into his pocket and drew out a small object which he cupped in his hand instead of showing it to me.

"You know what this is?" he asked.

"No, Gus, I don't," I answered.

Whistle for a Signal.

"This is something I want you to promise me to use if you need to," he said, with solemn urgency, "You keep it in your hand, and if you need to, you use it quick."

"But what is it?" I asked, humoring his evident naive wish to be dramatic, although I had a very shrewd guess as to the object he was concealing.

"It is a whistle, a loud one," he said, opening his hand and showing it to me.

"Oh thank you," I said, "but I have one in my bag."

"I'll bet it's not so loud as this," he said. Then he called to the men in front.

"Hey!" he shouted.

"What's eating you?" the driver demanded.

Tries It On Driver.

"I'm going to blow a whistle to show Mrs. Graham something," Gus explained, "and I didn't want you wrecking the car."

"When I wreck a car because some fool toots a whistle, I'll turn in my license," the driver tossed back caustically. "Go ahead, blow your fool head off and see if I care."

Gus responded with a blast that would have raised me from the seat if I had not been prepared for it.

"Is yours so good?" he demanded.

"No, it isn't." I acknowledged.

"Then you take this one, and keep it in your hand, not your bag," Gus said inexorably.

DAUGHTER BORN

ASHLAND — A daughter was born Tuesday at Samaritan hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Amos Desenberg of Ashland.

HOROSCOPE

For Thursday, March 19.

While matters generally seem to move along securely in accustomed grooves there are signs of a sinister state of affairs tending to undermine and craftily uproot the most methodical and safe endeavors. It would seem as though this menace were well organized, with strategic policies little suspected or foreseen. Public or community issues are at stake, and probably the best way to avert open as well as deep seated duplicity is on a policy of "dog eat dog," although there are promises of unexpected assistance.

Those whose birthday it is may find that on the surface all things are progressing in routine lines of endeavor, with seeming prosperity and stability, but underneath is a sinister antagonism aimed at uprooting and disabling the best directed effort. Such undercurrents may be personal as well as organized by cliques, political, or biased business interests, and the public or the community welfare may be menaced. However, there is a sign of strange or unlooked for assistance to turn the tide to progress and gratification.

A child born on this day should have fair abilities and ambitions, and should have moderate success in life, although beset by much underhand and subtle antagonism.

IMPROVEMENT DELAYED

ASHLAND — Improvement of county road 186-109 in Hanover township has been postponed by Ashland county commissioners pending an inspection of the road. Several objections have been filed to the proposed improvement.

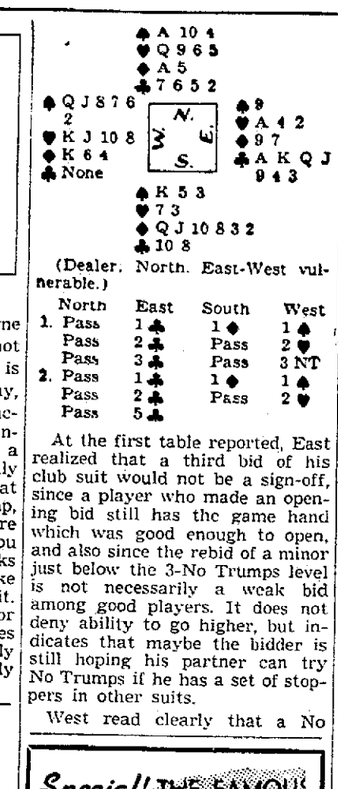
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

BY Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

TRY TO AVOID MINORS

Preferring No Trump game tries to those in minor suits is not a mere matter of prejudice. It is sound bridge. The more you play, the more you will realize the accuracy of the statistics which indicate that, when the side has a safe enough suit, it will usually produce one more taking trick at a trump contract than at No Trump, but not two more. In fact, there are many more deals in which you can take nine No Trump tricks than those in which you can take eleven tricks playing at suit. Hence, you should favor major games most often. No Trump ones next, and seek minor ones only when the others are not hopefully in sight.



(Dealer, North. East-West vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
1. Pass	1 ♣	1 ♦	1 ♠
Pass	2 ♣	Pass	2 ♥
Pass	3 ♣	Pass	3 NT
2. Pass	1 ♣	1 ♦	1 ♠
Pass	2 ♣	Pass	2 ♥
Pass	5 ♣

At the first table reported, East realized that a third bid of his club suit would not be a sign-off, since a player who made an opening bid still has the game hand which was good enough to open, and also since the rebid of a minor just below the 3-No Trumps level is not necessarily a weak bid among good players. It does not deny ability to go higher, but indicates that maybe the bidder is still hoping his partner can try No Trumps if he has a set of stoppers in other suits.

West read clearly that a No Trump try was in order with a diamond stopper, so he made it. Now, if East's suit had merely been inordinately long, and nowhere near to a set-up suit with a lot of tricks at No Trumps, he could have bid 4-Clubs. The No Trump game was a sure thing, even if North illogically underled his spade A to the K and South switched to his top diamond. West would still be safe by ducking the first two diamond leads.

At the table where 5-Clubs got tried, there was never a chance, as two diamonds and a spade set the contract at the outset.

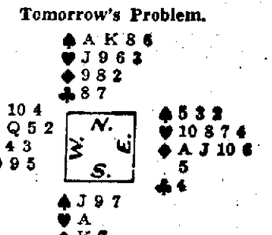
Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer: North. Neither side vulnerable.)

If West leads the heart K against South's overbid 6-No Trumps, why should declarer make his contract, and why would he be a poor player if he did not?

Sport Podge

by REX HESS

If this column continues to be bucketball all week long, don't be surprised, and don't blow the whistle on me.

I don't like whistles!

Mansfield high's Tygers go to the state tournament this week for the first time since 1939, when they last won the Sandusky district tournament by one point over Vern Hoffman's Bellevue quint, on Jake Lyons' desperate long shot in the last 40 seconds of play.

True, the Tygers are going to a regional tournament at Findlay Friday night, but it's the state tournament just the same, with a slightly different twist. The 16 Class A teams playing in regional jousts this week-end are the same 16 who would be in the state classic at Columbus if the ABC keglers weren't busy mowing maples in the state Fairground Coliseum.

Vern Hoffman, now coaching Mansfield's champions, has his fingers crossed, and is hoping that history repeats itself in the Findlay fracas.

Hoffman's Bellevue club won the last regional tournament at Findlay under the old state tournament system. That was back in 1934 when Bellevue defeated Fostoria, Fremont and Toledo Libbey for the title.

His Mansfield team will need to win only two games at Findlay, over Bowling Green Friday night, and either Celina or Toledo Central Catholic Saturday night.

So cross all your fingers,
And cross all your toes,
It's a good trick if you do it,
Just how good nobody knows.

Center Paul Dietzel of the Tygers and Center Ronnie Waugh of Bowling Green have severed diplomatic relations "for the duration."

Dietzel and Waugh bunked next to each other at "Boys' State" in Columbus last summer, and got to be very good friends. But that good neighbor policy is being suspended.

Tall Paul writes to Robust Ronnie in this fashion:

"All friendships are off for Friday night."

"This Waugh is quite an athlete," Dietzel reports. "He's as tall as I am, and bigger. He was a star as a football tackle, and he's leading the Bowling Green basketball team in scoring with 215 points. That's two more points than I've got. I'll have to stick close to that boy Friday night."

* * *

I hope the Tygers aren't forced into that Amos and Andy cheer Friday night. Aw-waw, aw-waw, aw-waw.

Hot Shots Roll In ABC Joust

Former Mansfielder Fensch Gets Hot.

COLUMBUS — (INS) — "Anything can happen, now," was the cry that pervaded the alleys of the 42nd annual American Bowling Congress championships today as the first of the nation's "hot-shot" teams—the Chicago Budweisers—were slated to make their debut.

With plenty of room at the top of the standings in all divisions, predictions as to the "Buds" final score ranged from 2700 to 3100 but if precedent is any criterion, the former mark seems the more likely as tournament alleys have becalmed one after another of the name squads in the past.

Slated to take to the alleys following two shifts of booster teams, the Budweisers, along with 35 other high average quintets, are expected to bring to a close the scoring lull which invaded Tuesday's session as six shifts failed to produce a leadership change for the first time in a week.

Adding impetus to predictions of an exceptionally high score today was the last session of minor events which, although barren of contending tallies, did result in high individual games as a trio of Cincinnatians "blew" excellent chances to assume command in the singles division.

Walter Fensch, former Mansfielder, opened with a terrific 255 and followed with 208 but slipped to 170 in the finale after needing a 230 to take the lead. Similarly, Charles Dawes skidded from a 243 opener to 203 and 196 for 642 while Ed Beringer had 231-202-209—642.

Boasting a 1035 average and the ninth highest total recorded this year—3374—Budweisers will cross alleys with another title contender—the Burlington Zephyrs, also of Chicago, who average an even 1000.

A few alleys away are two of Cleveland's strongest threats to the crown now worn by the Vogel Brothers squad of Forrest Park, Ill.—Varga Crystal Rocks and Craddock Motors, both with 980 averages for the season.

The occasion marks a practical "second opening" for the tournament which will be in the hands of "regulars"—teams with an 850 or better average—almost without exception from now on through the remaining 67 days of the marathon.

Also of considerable interest will be the action of Joe Wilman, captain and anchor man of the Buds, who will be seeking to regain the all-events crown he annexed in the 1939 championships at Cleveland with a 2028 count.

Top team last night was the Solareks Clippers of Dayton, O., who blasted out 2695 to grab $50, top money, on the first booster shift. Second on the squad was the Autocall Co., of Shelby, O., with 2672 which netted it $46.

On the final shift, the Ralston Steel Car Co., Columbus, O., polished off 2643 for first money while Goldberg Iron & Steel Co. of Columbus, O., socked the maples for 2603 and second spot.

Nick Weber Takes High Tappan Mark

Nick Weber rolled a 553 total on games of 213-170-170 to lead the Tappan Stove bowling league at Colony alleys last night, while Bob Bieri took high game with 234.

Rookie Stars For Indians

Ray Poat Tames Cards For Five Innings.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla—(INS)—On the strong right arm of Ray Poat may rest the first division hopes of the Cleveland Indians, Manager Lou Boudreau had reason to believe today, as the Three-I league rookie turned back the heavy-hitting St. Louis Cardinals for five innings with only one safe blow. The Cards won a nine-inning, 1-0, victory as each club collected four hits.

Max Lanier and John Beazley, Card flingers, were almost as stingy as Poat. Lanier gave up two hits in five frames and Beazley two in four.

Walker Cooper, St. Louis catcher, cracked in the lone run of the game in the ninth with a sizzling single through Oscar Grimes' legs at third base, scoring Ery Duska from second base.

Bob Blattner solved Poat's blistering fast ball and good curve by blasting a double in the fifth, the only hit off the lanky busher, who played with Boudreau on the University of Illinois baseball team.

Harry Eisenstat and Tom Ferrick worked two innings each for the Tribe, the Jewish southpaw allowing one hit and Ferrick being charged with the defeat.

Raklets Planning Young Golf Class

Tom Raklets, new golf pro at Westbrook Country club, moved to Mansfield yesterday, and immediately announced plans for free golf instructions for the club youngsters.

Starting about the third Saturday in April, Raklets said he plans a regular class for sons and daughters of club members to be held every Saturday until school closes, and one morning a week during the season.

He expects to enroll over 30 in the class.

Raklets is still busy straightening up after the movers at his new home, 56 Glenwood boulevard.

Long Island, West Texas Bumped Out of Tournament

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—The West Virginia Mountaineers and Creighton University's Missouri Valley conference co-champions advanced to the semi-finals of the fifth annual national invitation basketball tournament today kicking pre-tournament seedings into a cocked hat.

Rated at the bottom of eight clubs invited to compete, they defeated the two top-seeded teams—Long Island University and West Texas State—in opening games before 17,000 fans at Madison Square Garden last night.

The Mountaineers, seeded last, carried Liu's defending champions into overtime and then trounced them with almost ridiculous ease, 58 to 49, providing one of the major upsets of the season.

Creighton, not to be outdone, staved off West Texas State's last half rush to nose out the tournament's towering glamour team, 59 to 58.

An unheralded young forward, Dick Kesling, was the West Virginia hero. He scored 20 points and held the Mountaineers together with his coolness under fire. Liu held a 25-18 advantage at the half but the West Virginia State champions drew to within one point of Liu, 45-44, with 54 seconds to play. Kesling's foul shot sent the game into overtime and then West Virginia broke the Blackbirds' hearts with a furious offensive.

The five-minute overtime barely was under way when Kesling scored five successive points insuring the West Virginia's 19th triumph in 23 games.

CCNY, metropolitan titlist with a record of 15 wins and two setbacks, meets Western Kentucky State, Kentucky conference king, while Toledo engages Rhode Island State in other first round games tomorrow night. West Virginia meets the CCNY-Western Kentucky winner and Creighton plays the Toledo-Rhode Island victor in Monday's semi-finals. The finals will be played next Wednesday.

Injuries Fail To Halt Barons

Cleveland Icers Beat Washington In Playoff.

CLEVELAND — (INS) — After spurning the aid of two players from other teams, and with a roster of only 14 active players due to injuries, the Cleveland Barons today held the satisfaction of beating the Washington Lions with their own men.

The players met yesterday, turned down an American league offer of help, were promised a $3,000 bonus by Owner Al Sutphin, win or lose, then skated into their opening third-place playoff game and walloped the Lions, 4-1.

The result never was in doubt after 15 seconds of the opening period as Norm Locking, himself playing under injury wraps, netted the rubber biscuit. Joffre Desilets, Les Cunningham and Stan Smith bagged the other counters in that order.

The only Washington puckster who could fool Goalie Bill Beveridge was Rod Lorrain in the second period.

Springfield took the starting first-place playoff tussle from Indianapolis, 4-2, as former Baron Bill Summerhill caged three goals, and Hershey trounced New Haven, 3-1, in a second-place playoff.

Softball Board Meets Tuesday

Mansfield's Softball commission will meet for the first time in 1942 next Tuesday night at 7:30 at the Y. M. C. A., building to discuss plans for the coming season, and the possibility of organizing more leagues.

Whether the commission will be reorganized at this meeting has not yet been decided.

It probably will be the last commission session attended by Joe Lesch, president of the group, as Joe has made application for enlistment in the army air corps and is due for an examination in the next few days. Lesch is also president of the City "A" basketball league and manager of all Yuncker Sports teams.

MAKES GRAND SLAM

FT. LAUDERDALE, Fla. —(INS) —Centerfielder Stan Benjamin stood out today as the Phils' most potent slugger after twice achieving baseball's grand slam in his team's 14-0 conquest of the Syracuse Chiefs. Stan smacked home runs in the seventh and 10th innings—with the bases full on both occasions.

BUCS BEAT CUBS

SAN BERNARLINO, Cal. — (INS)— The Pittsburgh Pirates boasted a .500 average in exhibition games today after taking the measure of Manager Jimmy Wilson's Chicago Cubs by an 8 to 6 margin. Pete Coscarart, former Dodger, reached base three times on three singles and a fourth when hit by a pitched ball.

Air Cadets Date a Bar Maid When They Dig Up an O. K. Joe

(By United Press)

DENVER — Bar maids with wings send many a dodo into a spin.

You don't savvy the language of the Army Air Corps soldiers?

In civilian words: Engaged girls who date only officers, cause many a recruit to worry.

That's just an example of the vocabulary developed by Uncle Sam's fliers and not often used in the other branches.

Here are some expressions used frequently by the airmen:

An O.K. Joe—a pal with five bucks to loan.

Bar maid—girl who dates only officers.

Back to your holes—return to quarters.

Breast detail — Friday night clean-up for Saturday inspection.

Bunk fatigue—sleepiness.

Dodo—recruit who hasn't soloed.

Fogey—five per cent pay boost granted every three years.

Get eager—be on the alert; buck up.

Gigs—demerits.

Grab a brace—assume position of attention.

H. P.—hot pilot, good flier.

Hangar flying—swapping yarns.

Have wings—become engaged.

In the spin—worrying.

Iron compass—railroad tracks used to locate objects while in the air.

Kiki—flying officer who can't fly but wears wings on uniform.

On the beam—in the groove.

Paddlefoot—soldier in another branch of service.

Pea shooter—pursuit plane or its pilot.

Princess—pretty girl without automobile.

Raunchy — untidy, dirty, inefficient.

Rocking chair pilot — a good weather flier.

Trainer—temporary girl friend.

Spook—homely girl.

Top wash — turbulent air flow back of propeller. Recruits are sent out to "get a bucket of top wash."

Queen—pretty girl with an automobile.

Wind 'er up—fast flying.

Yardbird—a sloppy fellow, always a buck private.

PRICE GOES UP

ASTORIA, Ore. —(U.P.)— Fishermen are "getting fat" on cod liver oil.

A record price for cod liver was paid here when the fishing boat Republic disposed of a 200-pound load at $1.10 a pound.

Several years ago ling cod were bringing fishermen only five cents a pound. At that time the livers were thrown away, and the cod sold on the fresh fish mrket.

SIX-HEADED CABBAGE

BRIDGEWATER, N. S.—(U.P.)— Nova Scotia's stepped-up farm production program got a boost from J. Aikens Greene, whose neighbors are still talking about his accomplishment of raising six well-formed heads of cabbage on one stalk.

THEATERS

Held Over.

Held over through Friday by popular demand, Jack Benny's picture, "To Be Or Not To Be," showing at the Ohio features the popular radio and screen comedian as the head of a theatrical troupe in Poland at the time of the Nazi invasion. Carole Lombard, in her last role, has the part of Benny's wife, a famous actress, and the company includes Stanley Ridges, Robert Stack and Lionel Atwill. The actors are forced to forsake their make-believe roles to play far more exciting ones in real life when they find the gestapo on their doorstep, and they impersonate all the German dignataries from Hitler on down.

Invasion Shown.

Authentic scenes showing the entry of German invaders into Paris when the French capital capitulated are incorporated in "Paris Calling," starring Elizabeth Bergner, at the Madison. The scenes were the last uncensored newsreel pictures to be shipped from Paris before stringent censorship was installed. Presenting Basil Rathbone and Randolph Scott in the supporting cast the picture, concerning the intrigue of European spy systems, evolves around an ingenious code transmission through the use of piano composition. Miss Bergner has the role of a wealthy young woman involved in the underground movement and Scott is cast as an American aviator in the R. A. F. "Niagara Falls," with Marjorie Woodworth is the second attraction.

Continental Comedy.

The beautiful singing star, Rise Stevens, who is remindful of Rosalind Russell, makes her screen debut in "The Chocolate Soldier," the gay comedy with music showing at the Ritz. Miss Stevens and Nelson Eddy appear as the musical comedy toasts of Vienna, whose domestic rifts are caused by Eddy's jealousy over his wife's suspected suitors. The production includes many of the original songs from the Straus operetta by the same name and several other numbers. Nigel Bruce, Nydia Westman and Florence Bates are in the cast. "Buy Me That Town," a gangster comedy, with Lloyd Nolan is the second attraction.

Musical Western.

Gene Autry is starred in "Springtime in the Rockies," a musical western, showing at the Park. Featuring Smiley Burnette and Polly Rowles the picture deals with the adventures of four agricultural college cowgirls who journey to the wild and wooly west to teach cow-punchers how to punch cows. "Women In War," the second feature, presents Elsie Janis, the "Sweetheart of the A. E. F.," during the first World war in the role of a story dramatizing bravery and devotion. Wendy Barrie and Mae Clarke are among the players.

Home Defense Comedy.

Home defense inspires a new type of war time comedy, "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp," opening Thursday at the Majestic. Featuring Jackie Gleason and Jack Durant, new screen comics, the picture deals with the efforts of two draft "rejectees" to do their bit by organizing home defense. Florence Rice appears as a newspaper gal and the cast includes Mabel Todd and Borrah Minevitch and His Harmonica Rascals. Johnny Mack Brown in "The Man From Montana," is the co-attraction.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

The liver should pour 2 pints of bile juice into your bowels every day. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It may just decay in the bowels. Then gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these 2 pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel "up and up." Get a package today. Take as directed. Effective in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. 100 and 25¢.

SUPERSTITIOUS? HERE'S THE DOPE FROM ARKANSAS

Stick Knife in Ground, Blade Up, If You'd Prevent All Damage From Tornado.

By ED L. CAMPBELL

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. — (Wide World) — Want to conjure? Or change the weather? Or cure the mumps?

It's easy if you believe the unbelievable. Take it straight from the bayous and the canebrakes, from the tree-topped hills and the cave lands, from the cottonpatch cabin and the back-alley shack.

There's an answer in augury for every ailment.

Among Arkansas' some two million citizens—98 per cent native-born Americans—is as fine a collection of superstitions as anywhere in the country.

Take the weather for example. The really superstitious farmer will just dip a pan of water from his rain barrel, dump it on a dry field and run for shelter before he gets drenched by the cloudburst that follows—or is supposed to.

If that doesn't work, catch a snake and hang it belly-up on a rail fence. Or build a big bonfire. Or be modern and wash your car—there are those who swear this never fails to bring rain.

Do tornadoes bother you? Take a tip from an elderly woman in a south Arkansas county and stick a knife or axe in the ground with the blade pointing toward the threatening cloud. It's supposed to chop that old storm to bits.

Perhaps you are troubled with common ailments. Like a stone bruise. The cure is simple—just rub a stone.

Does Willie have the mumps? Then feed him the marrow from a hog's jawbone.

To protect yourself from mad dogs, carry a twig of dogwood in your pocket. Rheumatism can be cured by stripping the bark from the branch of a slippery elm—provided the bark is pulled downward. That forces the pains down through your legs and out your feet.

If Susie catches the chickenpox, just have a chicken—preferably a black rooster—jump over her. Presto, and she's well.

When your tooth aches, just lean against a tree and have a friend drive a peg into the trunk above your head.

But conjuring is the most fun. It ranges from simple things like keeping pets at home to really deep, dark voodoo relating to love, wealth and power.

Dogs and cats can be kept by the hearth by burying some of their hair under the back doorstep.

But don't cut baby's fingernails until he is three years old. A sorcerer might find the parings and steal his soul.

Charms—sometimes known as jacks, hands or jujus—are extremely valuable. But it is important they be prepared by a master. The ingredients are simple.

One of the most common is made of some dirt from a grave, asafetida, hair and salt, wrapped in red flannel and worn around the neck.

What will it do? Well, they say, ladies, it's mighty handy to keep a husband from roving. Personally, it seems it would be more effective hung around the husband's neck.

Salt by itself is first rate conjure material. When used to put another under a spell, its effect can be dissipated only by elaborate rites involving use of a small portion of gunpowder and the leg bone of a black cat killed at the crossroads at midnight.

And there's just one thing to do if a black cat crosses your path.

Spit on the ground, turn completely around, walk backward seven steps and go your way in safety.

Silly? Sure, but look what happened the time you didn't take that precaution.

U. S. Army Permits New Recruit To Keep His Date

NEW YORK—(INS)—When Richard Bernnan, 17-year-old Brooklyn youth, makes a date with a pretty red head he intends to keep it—war or no war.

Brennan volunteered at the navy recruiting service, was accepted and ordered to report the following day (Saturday) for active service.

"But I have a date with a beautiful redhead Saturday night," he protested to the recruiting officer.

"The Japs aren't going to wait for you," countered the recruiting officer.

"Neither will this gal," said Brennan.

"That's a good argument," remarked the recruiting officer.

Brennan and the strawberry blonde kept their Saturday night date.

2—Card of Thanks

WITH REGARD TO A CARD OF THANKS

Very often a Card of Thanks in The News-Journal meets a need which can hardly be solved in any other way. Not only is it a gracious expression of gratitude to those who have sent floral tributes, but also courteously acknowledges the service and kindness of the many to whom a personal note of thanks cannot well be mailed, or whose names or addresses are not known.

A "Card of Thanks" can now be arranged by telephone: Dial 4251-6, ask for Miss Lane or Miss Stone, either will be glad to render whatever service and advice you need

WE WISH to express our sincere thanks to all the friends and relatives and neighbors for the kindness shown us during the death of our husband and father, Mike Tanazevich; to those who sent flowers and cards; to the Wappner Funeral Home; to the priest for his kind services and to any others who assisted.

HIGH CLAS

Sport Podge

by REX HESS

If this column continues to be bucketball all week long, don't be surprised, and don't blow the whistle on me.

I don't like whistles!

Mansfield high's Tygers go to the state tournament this week for the first time since 1939, when they last won the Sandusky district tournament by one point over Vern Hoffman's Bellevue quint, on Jake Lyons' desperate long shot in the last 40 seconds of play.

True, the Tygers are going to a regional tournament at Findlay Friday night, but it's the state tournament just the same, with a slightly different twist. The 16 Class A teams playing in regional jousts this week-end are the same 16 who would be in the state classic at Columbus if the ABC keglers weren't busy mowing maples in the state Fairground Coliseum.

Vern Hoffman, now coaching Mansfield's champions, has his fingers crossed, and is hoping that history repeats itself in the Findlay fracas.

Hoffman's Bellevue club won the last regional tournament at Findlay under the old state tournament system. That was back in 1934 when Bellevue defeated Fostoria, Fremont and Toledo Libbey for the title.

His Mansfield team will need to win only two games at Findlay, over Bowling Green Friday night, and either Celina or Toledo Central Catholic Saturday night.

So cross all your fingers,
And cross all your toes.
It's a good trick if you do it,
Just how good nobody knows.

Center Paul Dietzel of the Tygers and Center Ronnie Waugh of Bowling Green have severed diplomatic relations "for the duration."

Dietzel and Waugh bunked next to each other at "Boys' State" in Columbus last summer, and got to be very good friends. But that good neighbor policy is being suspended.

Tall Paul writes to Robust Ronnie in this fashion:

"All friendships are off for Friday night."

"This Waugh is quite an athlete," Dietzel reports. "He's as tall as I am, and bigger. He was a star as a football tackle, and he's leading the Bowling Green basketball team in scoring with 215 points. That's two more points than I've got. I'll have to stick close to that boy Friday night."

* * *

I hope the Tygers aren't forced into that Amos and Andy cheer Friday night. Aw-waw, aw-waw, aw-waw.

Nick Weber Takes High Tappan Mark

Nick Weber rolled a 553 total on games of 213-170-170 to lead the Tappan Stove bowling league at Colony alleys last night, while Deb Bieri took high game with 234.

Hot Shots Roll In ABC Joust

Former Mansfielder Fensch Gets Hot.

COLUMBUS — (INS) — "Anything can happen, now," was the cry that pervaded the alleys of the 42nd annual American Bowling Congress championships today as the first of the nation's "hot-shot" teams—the Chicago Budweisers—were slated to make their debut.

With plenty of room at the top of the standings in all divisions, predictions as to the "Buds" final score ranged from 2700 to 3100 but if precedent is any criterion, the former mark seems the more likely as tournament alleys have becalmed one after another of the name squads in the past.

Slated to take to the alleys following two shifts of booster teams, the Budweisers, along with 35 other high average quintets, are expected to bring to a close the scoring lull which invaded Tuesday's session as six shifts failed to produce a leadership change for the first time in a week.

Adding impetus to predictions of an exceptionally high score today was the last session of minor events which, although barren of contending tallies, did result in high individual games as a trio of Cincinnatians "blew" excellent chances to assume command in the singles division.

Walter Fensch, former Mansfielder, opened with a terrific 255 and followed with 208 but slipped to 170 in the finale after needing a 230 to take the lead. Similarly, Charles Dawes skidded from a 243 opener to 203 and 196 for 642 while Ed Beringer had 231-202-209—642.

Boasting a 1035 average and the ninth highest total recorded this year—3374—Budweisers will cross alleys with another title contender—the Burlington Zephyrs, also of Chicago, who average an even 1000.

A few alleys away are two of Cleveland's strongest threats to the crown now worn by the Vogel Brothers squad of Forrest Park, Ill.—Varga Crystal Rocks and Craddock Motors, both with 980 averages for the season.

The occasion marks a practical "second opening" for the tournament which will be in the hands of "regulars"—teams with an 850 or better average—almost without exception from now on through the remaining 67 days of the marathon.

Also of considerable interest will be the action of Joe Wilman, captain and anchor man of the Buds, who will be seeking to regain the all-events crown he annexed in the 1939 championships at Cleveland with a 2028 count.

Top team last night was the Solareks Clippers of Dayton, O., who blasted out 2695 to grab $50, top money, on the first booster shift. Second on the squad was the Autocall Co., of Shelby, O., with 2672 which netted it $46.

On the final shift, the Ralston Steel Car Co., Columbus, O., polished off 2643 for first money while Goldberg Iron & Steel Co. of Columbus, O., socked the maples for 2603 and second spot.

Lutherans Win Church Title

Lutherans defeated Baptists in the play-off for the church league basketball championship at the Y. M. C. A. gym last night 29-16.

The champs stepped away to a 8-2 lead in the first quarter, and increased it to 18-9 at the half, and coasted in. Baptists were blanked in the last period.

Ray Poat Tames Cards For Five Innings.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—(INS)—On the strong right arm of Ray Poat may rest the first division hopes of the Cleveland Indians, Manager Lou Boudreau had reason to believe today, as the Three-I league rookie turned back the heavy-hitting St. Louis Cardinals for five innings with only one safe blow. The Cards won a nine-inning, 1-0, victory as each club collected four hits.

Max Lanier and John Beazley, Card flingers, were almost as stingy as Poat. Lanier gave up two hits in five frames and Beazley two in four.

Walker Cooper, St. Louis catcher, cracked in the lone run of the game in the ninth with a sizzling single through Oscar Grimes' legs at third base, scoring Erv Duska from second base.

Bob Blattner solved Poat's blistering fast ball and good curve by blasting a double in the fifth, the only hit off the lanky busher, who played with Boudreau on the University of Illinois baseball team.

Harry Eisenstat and Tom Ferrick worked two innings each for the Tribe, the Jewish southpaw allowing one hit and Ferrick being charged with the defeat.

Raklets Planning Young Golf Class

Tom Raklets, new golf pro at Westbrook Country club, moved to Mansfield yesterday, and immediately announced plans for free golf instructions for the club youngsters.

Starting about the third Saturday in April, Raklets said he plans a regular class for sons and daughters of club members to be held every Saturday until school closes, and one morning a week during the season.

He expects to enroll over 30 in the class.

Raklets is still busy straightening up after the movers at his new home, 56 Glenwood boulevard.

CAPTAINS BISHOPS

DELAWARE — (INS) — Eugene Quackenbush, Middletown, N. Y., junior, will captain Ohio Wesleyan's basketball team next year. Quackenbush was elected by the cage squad to succeed Bob Heisler, Ravenna senior, who was voted the "most valuable player."

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—The West Virginia Mountaineers and Creighton University's Missouri Valley conference co-champions advanced to the semi-finals of the fifth annual national invitation basketball tournament today kicking pre-tournament seedings into a cocked hat.

Rated at the bottom of eight clubs invited to compete, they defeated the two top-seeded teams—Long Island University and West Texas State—in opening games before 17,000 fans at Madison Square Garden last night.

The Mountaineers, seeded last, carried Liu's defending champions into overtime and then trounced them with almost ridiculous ease, 58 to 49, providing one of the major upsets of the season.

Creighton, not to be outdone, staved off West Texas State's last half rush to nose out the tournament's towering glamour team, 59 to 58.

An unheralded young forward, Dick Kesling, was the West Virginia hero. He scored 20 points and held the Mountaineers together with his coolness under fire. Liu held a 25-18 advantage at the half but the West Virginia State champions drew to within one point of Liu, 45-44, with 54 seconds to play. Kesling's foul shot sent the game into overtime and then West Virginia broke the Blackbirds' hearts with a furious offensive.

The five-minute overtime barely was under way when Kesling scored five successive points insuring the West Virginia's 19th triumph in 23 games.

CCNY, metropolitan titlist with a record of 15 wins and two setbacks, meets Western Kentucky State, Kentucky conference king, while Toledo engages Rhode Island State in other first round games tomorrow night. West Virginia meets the CCNY-Western Kentucky winner and Creighton plays the Toledo-Rhode Island victor in Monday's semi-finals. The finals will be played next Wednesday.

Injuries Fail To Halt Barons

Cleveland Icers Beat Washington In Playoff.

CLEVELAND — (INS) — After spurning the aid of two players from other teams, and with a roster of only 14 active players due to injuries, the Cleveland Barons today held the satisfaction of beating the Washington Lions with their own men.

The players met yesterday, turned down an American league offer of help, were promised a $3,000 bonus by Owner Al Sutphin, win or lose, then skated into their opening third-place playoff game and walloped the Lions, 4-1.

The result never was in doubt after 15 seconds of the opening period as Norm Locking, himself playing under injury wraps, netted the rubber biscuit. Joffre Desilets, Les Cunningham and Stan Smith bagged the other counters in that order.

The only Washington puckster who could fool Goalie Bill Beveridge was Rod Lorrain in the second period.

Springfield took the starting first-place playoff tussle from Indianapolis, 4-2, as former Baron Bill Summerhill caged three goals, and Hershey trounced New Haven, 3-1, in a second-place playoff.

Softball Board Meets Tuesday

Mansfield's Softball commission will meet for the first time in 1942 next Tuesday night at 7:30 at the Y. M. C. A., building to discuss plans for the coming season, and the possibility of organizing more leagues.

* * *

Whether the commission will be reorganized at this meeting has not yet been decided.

* * *

It probably will be the last commission session attended by Joe Lesch, president of the group, as Joe has made application for enlistment in the army air corps and is due for an examination in the next few days. Lesch is also president of the City "A" basketball league and manager of all Yuncker Sports teams.

MAKES GRAND SLAM

FT. LAUDERDALE, Fla. —(INS) —Centerfielder Stan Benjamin stood out today as the Phils' most potent slugger after twice achieving baseball's grand slam in his team's 14-0 conquest of the Syracuse Chiefs. Stan smacked home runs in the seventh and 10th innings—with the bases full on both occasions.

BUCS BEAT CUBS

SAN BERNARLINO, Cal. — (INS)— The Pittsburgh Pirates boasted a .500 average in exhibition games today after taking the measure of Manager Jimmy Wilson's Chicago Cubs by an 8 to 6 margin. Pete Coscarart, former Dodger, reached base three times on three singles and a fourth when hit by a pitched ball.

Field Complete for State Cage Tourney

Kenmore and North Win Way To Classic From Akron District

By JAMES EMERSON

COLUMBUS—(UP)—The field of 32 teams was complete today for the 1942 state hardwood classics as Akron North and Akron Kenmore high schools romped into the Class A finals.

North's Vikings, 1939 state champions and only one of the mid-season "big three" Class A favorites to survive district playoffs, squelched the surprising Cuyahoga Falls combination, 38 to 29, in one half of the northeastern district finals at Kent last night.

Kenmore nipped Akron South and the great Fritz Nagy, 27 to 24, to gain the other berth.

Immediately upon completion of the title game, North volunteered to enter the regional tourney at Dennison, thereby clearing the way for possible participation of two Akron clubs in the state Class A semi-finals at Kent.

Kenmore and three other northeastern district winners will battle in a regional meet at Youngstown. The pairings are Kenmore vs. Warren and Lakewood vs. Canton Lehman.

Drawings will be held this morning for the Dennison regional where North, Steubenville, Cambridge and Greenfield will fight it out for one of the four semi-final spots. The Rubber City Vikings were the only one of the "big three" of the regular Class A season—North, Newark and Martins Ferry—to come through the district playoffs as expected.

This will be North's fourth trip to the state finals, having won the title in 1935 and 1939 and being eliminated in the second round in 1937. Kenmore will be making its bow to the state meet along with Cambridge, Celina and Steubenville.

Pairings for the other regional meets to be played Friday and Saturday are:

At Dayton—Xenia Central vs. Cincinnati Roger Bacon; Columbus South vs. Dayton Roosevelt.

Survivors of the four regionals, which are part of the state tournament, will clash March 28 in a one-day free-for-all at Kent for the state crown vacated by Martins Ferry.

Akron North had to rally in the last quarter to subdue Cuyahoga Falls which had upset Akron St. Vincent's and Massillon, a defending district champion, in earlier rounds. The third quarter ended, 26-all. Six-foot-seven Leo Sadowski scored 15 points for North. Kenmore bottled up the high-scoring Nagy with three points to insure its triumph.

Contenders for the state Class B championship begin arriving in Springfield today for the small school finals which open tomorrow. As usual, the dope is thoroughly scrambled when it comes to selecting favorites among the 16 district rulers. Nearly all of the teams stay in their own territory during the regular season, making it difficult to assess their merits in comparison with other sections.

Then, too, the season records mean even less in the Class B meet than in the Class A because the bigger Class B schools schedule a flock of Class A opposition during the season. For example, Marion St. Marys, with a season mark of 9-8, played only two Class B outfits and Fairport Harbor, with 17-2, played only four.

The Class B tourney opens at 1 p. m. with eight first round tilts tomorrow, four quarter-finals on Friday, and semi-finals and finals Saturday. Here are the first round pairings and starting times: Bremen vs. New Washington, 1 p. m.; Wyoming vs. Clearview, 2 p. m.; Bluffton vs. Xenia O. S. O., 3 p. m.; Yorkville vs. Marion St. Marys, 4 p. m.; Webster Twp. vs. Fairport Harbor, 7 p. m.; Somerset vs. Tipp City, 8 p. m.; Latham Rural vs. Waynesburg, 9 p. m., and Gnadenhutten vs. Ottawa Hills, 10 p. m.

Air Cadets Date a Bar Maid When They Dig Up an O. K. Joe

(By United Press)

DENVER — Bar maids with wings send many a dodo into a spin.

You don't savvy the language of the Army Air Corps soldiers?

In civilian words: Engaged girls who date only officers, cause many a recruit to worry.

That's just an example of the vocabulary developed by Uncle Sam's fliers and not often used in the other branches.

Here are some expressions used frequently by the airmen:

An O.K. Joe—a pal with five bucks to loan.

Bar maid—girl who dates only officers.

Back to your holes—return to quarters.

Breast detail — Friday night clean-up for Saturday inspection.

Bunk fatigue—sleepiness.

Dodo—recruit who hasn't soloed.

Fogey—five per cent pay boost granted every three years.

Get eager—be on the alert; buck up.

Gigs—demerits.

Grab a brace—assume position of attention.

H. P.—hot pilot, good flier.

Hangar flying—swapping yarns.

Have wings—become engaged.

In the spin—worrying.

Iron compass—railroad tracks used to locate objects while in the air.

Kiki—flying officer who can't fly but wears wings on uniform.

On the beam—in the groove.

Paddlefoot—soldier in another branch of service.

Pea shooter—pursuit plane or its pilot.

Princess—pretty girl without automobile.

Raunchy — untidy, dirty, inefficient.

Rocking chair pilot — a good weather flier.

Trainer—temporary girl friend.

Spook—homely girl.

Top wash — turbulent air flow back of propeller. Recruits are sent out to "get a bucket of top wash."

Queen—pretty girl with an automobile.

Wind 'er up—fast flying.

Yardbird—a sloppy fellow, always a buck private.

PRICE GOES UP

ASTORIA, Ore.—(U.P.)— Fishermen are "getting fat" on cod liver oil.

A record price for cod liver was paid here when the fishing boat Republic disposed of a 200-pound load at $1.10 a pound.

Several years ago ling cod were bringing fishermen only five cents a pound. At that time the livers were thrown away, and the cod sold on the fresh fish mrket.

SIX-HEADED CABBAGE

BRIDGEWATER, N. S.—(U.P.)— Nova Scotia's stepped-up farm production program got a boost from J. Aikens Greene, whose neighbors are still talking about his accomplishment of raising six well-formed heads of cabbage on one stalk.

THEATERS

Held Over.

Held over through Friday by popular demand, Jack Benny's picture, "To Be Or Not To Be," showing at the Ohio features the popular radio and screen comedian as the head of a theatrical troupe in Poland at the time of the Nazi invasion. Carole Lombard, in her last role, has the part of Benny's wife, a famous actress, and the company includes Stanley Ridges, Robert Stack and Lionel Atwill. The actors are forced to forsake their make-believe roles to play far more exciting ones in real life when they find the gestapo on their doorstep, and they impersonate all the German dignataries from Hitler on down.

Invasion Shown.

Authentic scenes showing the entry of German invaders into Paris when the French capital capitulated are incorporated in "Paris Calling," starring Elizabeth Bergner, at the Madison. The scenes were the last uncensored newsreel pictures to be shipped from Paris before stringent censorship was installed. Presenting Basil Rathbone and Randolph Scott in the supporting cast the picture, concerning the intrigue of European spy systems, evolves around an ingenious code transmission through the use of piano composition. Miss Bergner has the role of a wealthy young woman involved in the underground movement and Scott is cast as an American aviator in the R. A. F. "Niagara Falls," with Marjorie Woodworth is the second attraction.

Continental Comedy.

The beautiful singing star, Rise Stevens, who is remindful of Rosalind Russell, makes her screen debut in "The Chocolate Soldier," the gay comedy with music showing at the Ritz. Miss Stevens and Nelson Eddy appear as the musical comedy toasts of Vienna, whose domestic rifts are caused by Eddy's jealousy over his wife's suspected suitors. The production includes many of the original songs from the Straus operetta by the same name and several other numbers. Nigel Bruce, Nydia Westman and Florence Bates are in the cast. "Buy Me That Town," a gangster comedy, with Lloyd Nolan is the second attraction.

Musical Western.

Gene Autry is starred in "Springtime in the Rockies," a musical western, showing at the Park. Featuring Smiley Burnette and Polly Rowles the picture deals with the adventures of four agricultural college cowgirls who journey to the wild and wooly west to teach cow-punchers how to punch cows. "Women In War," the second feature, presents Elsie Janis, the "Sweetheart of the A. E. F.," during the first World war in the role of a story dramatizing bravery and devotion. Wendy Barrie and Mae Clarke are among the players.

Home Defense Comedy.

Home defense inspires a new type of war time comedy, "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp," opening Thursday at the Majestic. Featuring Jackie Gleason and Jack Durant, new screen comics, the picture deals with the efforts of two draft "rejectees" to do their bit by organizing home defense. Florence Rice appears as a newspaper gal and the cast includes Mabel Todd and Borrah Minevitch and His Harmonica Rascals. Johnny Mack Brown in "The Man From Montana," is the co-attraction.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

The liver should pour 2 pints of bile juices into your bowels every day. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It may just decay in the bowels. Then gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these 2 pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel "up and up." Get a package today. Take as directed. Effective in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. 10¢ and 25¢.

SUPERSTITIOUS? HERE'S THE DOPE FROM ARKANSAS

By ED L. CAMPBELL

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. — (Wide World) — Want to conjure? Or change the weather? Or cure the mumps?

It's easy if you believe the unbelievable. Take it straight from the bayous and the canebrakes, from the tree-topped hills and the cave lands, from the cottonpatch cabin and the back-alley shack.

There's an answer in augury for every ailment.

Among Arkansas' some two million citizens—98 per cent native-born Americans—is as fine a collection of superstitions as anywhere in the country.

Take the weather for example. The really superstitious farmer will just dip a pan of water from his rain barrel, dump it on a dry field and run for shelter before he gets drenched by the cloudburst that follows—or is supposed to.

If that doesn't work, catch a snake and hang it belly-up on a rail fence. Or build a big bonfire. Or be modern and wash your car—there are those who swear this never fails to bring rain.

Do tornadoes bother you? Take a tip from an elderly woman in a south Arkansas county and stick a knife or axe in the ground with the blade pointing toward the threatening cloud. It's supposed to chop that old storm to bits.

Perhaps you are troubled with common ailments. Like a stone bruise. The cure is simple—just rub a stone.

Does Willie have the mumps? Then feed him the marrow from a hog's jawbone.

To protect yourself from mad dogs, carry a twig of dogwood in your pocket. Rheumatism can be cured by stripping the bark from the branch of a slippery elm—provided the bark is pulled downward. That forces the pains down through your legs and out your feet.

When your tooth aches, just lean against a tree and have a friend drive a peg into the trunk above your head.

But conjuring is the most fun. It ranges from simple things like keeping pets at home to really deep, dark voodoo relating to love, wealth and power.

Dogs and cats can be kept by the hearth by burying some of their hair under the back doorstep.

But don't cut baby's fingernails until he is three years old. A sorcerer might find the parings and steal his soul.

Charms—sometimes known as jacks, hands or jujus—are extremely valuable. But it is important they be prepared by a master. The ingredients are simple.

One of the most common is made of some dirt from a grave, asafetida, hair and salt, wrapped in red flannel and worn around the neck.

What will it do? Well, they say, ladies, it's mighty handy to keep a husband from roving. Personally, it seems it would be more effective hung around the husband's neck.

Salt by itself is first rate conjure material. When used to put another under a spell, its effect can be dissipated only by elaborate rites involving use of a small portion of gunpowder and the leg bone of a black cat killed at the crossroads at midnight.

And there's just one thing to do if a black cat crosses your path.

Spit on the ground, turn completely around, walk backward seven steps and go your way in safety.

Silly? Sure, but look what happened the time you didn't take that precaution.

U. S. Army Permits New Recruit To Keep His Date

NEW YORK—(INS)—When Richard Bernnan, 17-year-old Brooklyn youth, makes a date with a pretty red head he intends to keep it—war or no war.

Brennan volunteered at the navy recruiting service, was accepted and ordered to report the following day (Saturday) for active service.

"But I have a date with a beautiful redhead Saturday night," he protested to the recruiting officer.

"The Japs aren't going to wait for you," countered the recruiting officer.

"Neither will this gal," said Brennan.

"That's a good argument," remarked the recruiting officer.

LEWIS

Mrs. Harriett Bell, aged 91 years, died at Marion, Ohio, early Tuesday morning. Funeral services will be held from the Finefrock Funeral Home Thursday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock in charge of Rev. Herbert S. Gaines. Burial in the Mansfield cemetery.

2—Card of Thanks

WITH REGARD TO A CARD OF THANKS

Very often a Card of Thanks in The News-Journal meets a need which can hardly be solved in any other way. Not only is it a gracious expression of gratitude to those who have sent floral tributes, but also courteously acknowledges the service and kindness of the many to whom a personal note of thanks cannot well be mailed, or whose names or addresses are not known.

A "Card of Thanks" can now be arranged by telephone: Dial 4251-6, ask for Miss Lane or Miss Stone, either will be glad to render whatever service and advice you need.

WE WISH to express our sincere thanks to all the friends and relatives and neighbors for the kindness shown us during the death of our husband and father, Mike Tanazevich; to those who sent flowers and cards; to the Wappner Funeral Home; to the priest for his kind services and to any others who assisted.

SIR-AT THE MOMENT I AM IN A QUANDARY...
WELL?
WHEN PAT WOULDN'T BE A JAPANESE PEACE ENVOY I MADE HIM A CHINESE GENERAL AN' NOW HE WANTS ME TO GET TWO JAPANESE PEACE ENVOYS, SO HE CAN "TAKE CARE OF THEM" IN AN OLD CHINESE CUSTOM—
WELL?
WELL - IN THESE TIMES IT'S VERY IMPOSSIBLE TO GET TWO PEOPLE TO PLAY THE PARTS OF THE JAPANESE PEACE ENVOYS - SO WHAT DO YOU SUGGEST?
WHAT DO I SUGGEST?
I THINK THAT IS A PROBLEM FOR THE DIRECTOR TO SETTLE - GOODBYE, NOW.

WANT IN ARMY

CAMP EDWARDS, Mass.—(INS)—A woman's place is in an army kitchen, according to a new version of an old saw.

At least that's what 100 women members of the Cape Cod Civilian Defense league thought after completing courses in army kitchens at this military post. Soldier-cooks taught them the intricacies of mass production of food and meals.

Purpose of the course was to prepare women to cook meals for bombed civilian areas.

STOCK MARKET RETAINS ITS TUESDAY GAIN

Westinghouse Fails To Keep Up With Pace, But Most Leaders Hang on.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Despite some backtracking tendencies in a few departments the stock market today held on to the best part of the substantial gains of the previous session.

Supported in the early proceedings were U. S. Steel, United Aircraft, Douglas, Sperry, Union Carbide, Philip Morris, Western Union, Southern Pacific and Great Northern. Stocks without much buoyancy included Westinghouse and Cerro de Pasco.

Bidders were not aggressive nor did they appear overly optimistic on the chances for any considerable extension of the rise of Monday and Tuesday but boardroom discussion indicated the better feeling engendered by the shift of MacArthur to Australia was still a factor on sentiment.

Industrial analysts saw indications of the effect of the national power conservation drive in the report of the Edison Electric Institute. It disclosed a drop in electric energy distribution for the fourth consecutive week with the total for the period at 3,357,444,000 kilowatt hours against 3,392,121,000 in the previous week.

GALION MAN, ILL FIVE YEARS, DIES

Harry Edward Collier, 62, Stricken at Home Today.

GALION—Harry Edward Collier, 62, 244½ Harding Way east, died today at his home following an illness of five years. He was born at Clair Spring, Ind., Feb. 14, 1880.

Surviving are his widow Dolly, two daughters, Mrs. Ethel Grosh of Galion and Mrs. Harland Huffman of Crestline; a son, Charles Herman Collier of Indianapolis, and one granddaughter.

He had resided in Galion for the past seven years and before his illness he had been a brick mason and plasterer. The body will be at the Snyder funeral home where services will be conducted at 2 p. m. by Rev. H. K. Freeman of the First Baptist church. Burial will be in Oakwood cemetery in Bucyrus.

BODY BROUGHT TO PLYMOUTH

SHELBY — The body of Miss Isabelle Bevier, 81, former Shelby resident who died Tuesday at Urbana, Ill., will be brought back to her birthplace, Plymouth, for funeral services.

The services will be held at the home of a niece, Mrs. William Johns, at 2:30 p. m. Thursday. Burial will be made in Greenlawn cemetery in Plymouth.

Founder of the department of home economics at the University of Illinois where she taught after leaving Shelby, Miss Bevier was appointed as home conservation director in the food administration by Herbert Hoover during World war I. She taught in the schools here before moving to Urbana and later retired from her job about 20 years ago.
